Palatine Rural Fire League saves farm home

Palatine Rural Fire Department Sunday, June 30 saved the home, large brooder house and corn crib of Arthur Pape, on Palatine road. Flaming embers were carried long distances and started small fires which were extinguished. The fire had gained such headway by the time the firemen arrived that they used their water only to protect nearby buildings. Two neighbors, Herman Zoellick and Martin Kreft hauled water to the equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Pape did not learn of the fire until they reached Elkhorn where they had gone to spend the day. Their son, Robert, who is employed nights at the race track, was asleep upstairs and was awakened by the arrival of the fire truck. The fire had gained such headway that the windows in his room were too hot to touch.

The Papes lost the barn and contents including considerable brooder equipment. The family cat saved one kitten but died in its attempt to save the rest of her brood.

The fire was first discovered by a neighbor, Mrs. Kovalik, who called the Palatine department. She also snapped the above picture. (That is a corn crib that the firemen are protecting).

July 4th receipts over $10,000

Arlington Heights 1946 July 4 celebration is history and it is a pleasant history, as it was a community celebration in which the general public and local patriotic organizations fully cooperated. The possible financial returns were secondary in the minds of the general committee, but the gross receipts passed the $10,000 mark. The net returns will be proportionately divided between the memorial, recreation and youth center funds.

Some of the customary rides were missing, likewise the outright gambling games and the liquid refreshments were much less than usual, but the fireworks display surpassed all previous pyrotechnical displays.

A company of blue jackets from Glenview navy station gave the parade an unusual touch. The presence of American Legion, V. F. W. posts and their auxiliaries with scouts, cubs, girl scouts, brownies, etc., made the parade worthwhile. The firemen's "pumper" created the usual excitement. Music was furnished by the Crystal Lake V. F. W. drum and bugle corps and the high school band.

The dance was well patronized each evening. The Red Wings lost to the Chicago Parrots on Sunday and won easily on Thursday. The high school band was generous with its music during the five days.

The July 4 program opened at 10:30 with a display of combat flying by two groups of navy fighters, which almost silently approached the town and then with a roar passed over the town at tree top level. Ex-service men said that it was a replica of troop strafing without bullets.

Additional funds needed for South school addition

Bids on the South school addition, opened publicly at a special meeting of the Board of Education on June 28, were found to exceed the bond issue authorized by the voters on March 16. At that election, a bond issue of $185,000 was authorized by a vote of 269 to 7.

The low bids on the project were as follows: General Work, $136,230.00; Heating and Ventilation, $32,185.00; Plumbing, $21,132.00; Wiring, $22,769.00; Special Items (lockers, basketball backstops, vault door, clock system, and stage equipment) $4,696.04. Total — $267,012.04. Six contractors submitted bids on the general work, seven on the heating and ventilation specifications, six on the plumbing work, and four on the electric wiring and fixtures.

It is the feeling of the Board of Education that the addition, as planned, represents the minimum needs of the school district now and that the home construction now under way here or planned for the near future makes it imperative that this addition not be delayed again. They are advised by all reliable sources that there is little likelihood that building costs will not rise considerably during the next two or three years.

In view of the dire need of the district and the likelihood of higher building costs immediately, the Board of Education has decided to submit the proposition of an additional bond issue to the voters. The lack of such a bond issue would prevent the construction of the addition and would result, in their opinion, in very undesirable school housing conditions in the near future.

In order to be able to construct the addition on the basis of the bids which have been received, the Board of Education has authorized the holding of a special election July 20. At that time, the voters will be asked to approve an additional $100,000 bond issue. This would make a total of $285,000, which would be sufficient to cover the cost of the building, architect's fee, and equipment.

In order that the bonding power of the district may not be seriously impaired, so far as future building needs are concerned, the proposition will provide for this $100,000 bond issue to be liquidated during the next five years rather than over a fifteen or twenty year period.

Such a plan would result, then, according to the Board of Education, in the district's being called upon to pay off an additional $20,000 annually for the next five years. A careful estimate shows that this last bond issue would result in an increase of a little less than twenty cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation for a five-year period. Figured out in terms of a specific taxpayer, it would mean that the taxes on a home assessed at $4,000 would be increased by eight dollars per year for each of the next five years. At the end of this time, this additional bond issue would have been completely retired.

N. M. Lattof, President of the Board of Education, made this statement regarding the additional bond issue: "It is with considerable reluctance that the Board of Education submits this additional bond issue to the voters. However, we are faced with the prospect of rising costs on all sides and with a serious need for additional educational facilities in the district immediately. The Board of Education believes that the community desires adequate facilities for its children. They also feel that the Board of Education has no right to deny the promised facilities to the community without giving it an opportunity to authorize the necessary funds to cover the cost of the addition as planned."

Council gets reply to petition

Arlington Heights is a step nearer to a government owned postoffice building. C. A. Hughes, chairman of the postoffice committee appointed by the Community Council, has received a letter from Congressman Link that Arlington Heights has first priority on any postoffices to be built in Illinois.

The petition asking for the postoffice building was circulated by boy scouts several months ago. Since then the local postoffice has become a first class office. The First Assistant Postmaster General Donaldson in passing on the encouraging news that Arlington Heights "stands first in Illinois" pointed out that no postoffice building will be started by the Federal Works Administration until after the present scarcity of building materials has eased up.

The congressman also stated that new postoffices are also to be erected at Barrington, Franklin Park, Mt. Prospect, Palatine and River Grove. This is not news for this area.

The letter received by Mr. Hughes follows:

Mr. C. A. Hughes, Chairman
Post Office Committee
Arlington Heights Community Council
Arlington Heights, Illinois

Dear Mr. Hughes:

"I have your petition signed by eight hundred and sixty-eight (868) citizens of Arlington Heights in regard to a new post office in your town — and in which you ask for my reactions toward the request.

"I have been very much in favor of a post office for Arlington Heights and when the Bill of Public Works and Buildings was being formulated, I asked for a new post office for Arlington Heights and also for one at Franklin Park. Both of these projects, I am glad to say, were given preferential consideration.

"I had a personal talk with First Assistant Postmaster General Donaldson the other day and he showed me where the new post office for Arlington Heights is given first place in Illinois. I have also talked to the Chairman of the Public Works and Buildings Committee — who also assured me and showed me where Arlington Heights is at the top of the list for post offices in Illinois. He also pointed out to me that the Federal Works Administration will not start erecting or building post offices until they are assured that the present scarcity of building materials has eased up. As you know, Veterans Housing at the present time have preference over everything.

"The cost for the site and building of the Arlington Heights new post office is estimated at $95,000. Chairman Lanham of the House Committee has also assured me that your project tops the list in my District. I wish to state further that new post offices will also be erected at Barrington, Franklin Park, Mount Prospect, Palatine, and River Grove.

"I assure you again, Mr. Hughes, that I am very much interested in your project and will keep right after the matter.

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM W. LINK"

Captain says individual action best cure for world's troubles

Captain August Burnier, who delivered the address at the July 4th celebration last week did not offer an easy cure or panacea for the troubles this country is in, but he did say that one way to solve those troubles is for the individual to do something about it. Here is how —

"Today we have trade unions which do not admit certain races or certain nationalities to membership. In some sections of the country we have segregation in places of amusement, public conveyances and restaurants. The D.A.R. once barred Marion Anderson, a great colored singer, from singing in their Constitution Hall in Washington, D. C. Whereupon Eleanor Roosevelt, a great lady, resigned from the D.A.R. For that act I have never ceased to admire her. In her position it took real courage to defy such a group as the D.A.R.

"In the Army you never knew or cared whether the man at your side was Gentile or Jew, Catholic or Protestant, butcher, baker or candle stick maker. But you did know that he endured the same hardships you endured, and you knew that shells and bullets could kill or cripple him just as you knew they might kill or cripple you.

"There are times when it is difficult to be proud that one lives in a nation where, through the mechanism of a poll tax, 10 million persons are denied the right to vote.

More worlds to conquer

"Boys and girls of today are inclined to look back over the years and reach the conclusion that all the great things have been accomplished and there are no more worlds to conquer. We no longer have Indians to fight, nor lands to homestead, nor do we have actual frontiers in the historical sense. But if the boys and girls of today will successfully attack some of these frontiers of racial and religious prejudice they will have rendered their country a greater service than the man who discovered gold in California. If they can successfully expand our Democracy so that it will afford equal opportunity to all, they will have done much more for their nation than the man who invented the automobile.

"In this nation we have the best form of government on earth, but our form of government is not as good as it might be. This nation is the best place on earth in which to live and work for a living, but it is not as good a place in which to live and earn a living as it might be. We enjoy the highest standards of living on earth, but that standard of living is not shared by the coal miner in Kentucky, the share cropper in Arkansas, or the cot-

Records fall at Arlington Park

The big holiday week at Arlington Park saw records of all kinds fall like Autumn leaves.

Attendance and mutuel records went by the wayside and while the public was hanging up new records the horses, too, were doing their part.

A new turf record is set about every other day and in the Stars and Stripes handicap on July 4 the long shot Witch Sir equalled the record for the distance set by Blue Larkspur and the mighty Sun Beau many years ago.

The crowds have been passing over a million dollars a day through the mutuels for the past two weeks and with both favorites and long shots coming scampering home all sorts of players are having a big time.

The arrival of Assault, "the horse of the year," at Arlington Park on Saturday was the big news of the week-end.

Assault will be prepared for his engagement in the $100,000 Arlington Classic on July 27, closing day of the meeting.

Another big week of racing is in progress this week with two rich stake events down for decision on Saturday, the famous Arlington Futurity for 2 years olds at six furlongs for a purse of $35,000 and the Dick Wells at one mile for 3 year olds and a purse of $30,000.

With continued good weather of which Arlington Park always gets a generous supply more records are sure to fall as the 1946 meeting, the greatest and most successful in the history of the track reaches the end of the fourth week of its six week meeting.

Palatine boys get into trouble

A fine of $100 was assessed by Judge Behrens, Arlington Heights against John Davis of Palatine last week for driving 75 miles an hour in the 4th lane between Wilke road and Euclid while the highway was full of race trackers, July 4th, on their way home. He narrowly missed two state police officers at Wilke road and endangered the lives of two pedestrians near the Town Pump. Davis' excuse was that he was a GI who could not get used to civilian life. The two state cops, also GIs, told-him-off that while Davis was spending his time on shipboard they were in the fox holes on Saipan.

More $100

Two other Palatine boys, Norman Harris and Richard Hildebrandt, are out on $100 bail each after a rough night in the vicinity of Kitty Korners, where they were ordered out of three taverns and were taken in custody by state police as they were trying to regain entrance into the first one visited.

A Palatine friend who came down to bail them out, left in a huff when the boys did not appreciate his good intentions.

Arlington Heights boy injured in bus crash

Leonard Garms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Garms, 22 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights, is in St. Francis hospital Evanston with a possible skull fracture. He was a passenger in a car being driven by Leslie Haseman, of Palatine, when the auto and a Cardinal bus collided at the State road and Northwest Highway intersection about 7:00 o'clock Wednesday. night.

A witness gave his opinion that Haseman started to make a left hand turn which caused the bus to swerve to the north. The auto driver suddenly swerved back into his own lane and a sideswip resulted.

FAMILY OF FIVE ARE EVICTED

End of the Day at the Brownie Camp

Every day at three o'clock the eighty girls attending the recent Brownie Camp gathered before the main shelter for their rally. The seven units presented their stunt. Sometimes it was a game, a folk dance or a song. Mrs. Muriel Walton standing beside the flag was the camp director who had general charge of the camp and did an outstanding job. She was ably assisted by Mrs. Alva Meyer, president of Arlington Heights Girl Scout Council; Mrs. E. A. Meineke, Arlington Heights camp chairman; Mrs. George Edgecumb, Mt. Prospect camp chairman; Mrs. C. B. Bydall, Mrs. Chas. Chrysler, as story tellers. Mrs. Fred Tice, president of Mt. Prospect council folk dancing and stunt instructor; Mrs. Alfred Sander, Mrs. Huber, in charge of equipment; Mrs. H. Evans and Mrs. J. Desch, food supplies and menus.

Palatine gives big welcome to locker plant

The great demand today for locker service is evidenced by the success that has been attained by the Palatine Locker Service, Chicago avenue, which opened its doors June 21. All of the 480 lockers were rented prior to opening and there is a waiting list of sixty. Mr. and Mrs. Brown, the proprietors, intended to locate at Arlington Heights, where they were discouraged because two other firms were soliciting locker reservations.

In a haydite block building 38 x 167 they have installed the large locker room, a pre-freezing room with a capacity of sixty trays (one day processing), an aging room with a capacity of 15 animals, and a large processing room in which there is also equipment for smoking and curing.

The immediate popularity of the service is the fact that they have been able to provide locker holders with quarters of federal inspected beef, which is purchased by them, slaughtered, U. S. inspected, processed and placed in the individual lockers without the locker owner lifting a finger except to sign the check when the job is done.

Automatic records of temperatures are kept for the state inspector. Automatic ventilation insures pure air at all times. A full time butcher-meat cutter is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown are not making immediate plans for expansion at this time prefering to give adequate service to present locker owners.

For the present, processing of fruits and vegetables must be done in the home, but receptacles for them can be purchased at the plant. A milk and ice cream depot is also maintained.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown reside in Gainer Park.

Lawnmower backfire brings out two fire trucks

Arlington Heights fire department took out two fire trucks early Sunday evening because the meager phone message mentioned "gasoline on fire." The location was 215 Park street, rather near the Ford garage. The firemen thought it was better to be safe than sorry. A gasoline lawnmower had backfired. The firemen extinguished the blaze with dirt.

If they can successfully expand our Democracy so that it will afford equal opportunity to all, they will have done much more for their nation than the man who invented the automobile.

"In this nation we have the best form of government on earth, but our form of government is not as good as it might be. This nation is the best place on earth in which to live and work for a living, but it is not as good a place in which to live and earn a living as it might be. We enjoy the highest standards of living on earth, but that standard of living is not shared by the coal miner in Kentucky, the share cropper in Arkansas, or the cot-

Robert Y. Paddock, assistant editor of Paddock Publications and editor of "With Uncle Sam" during the war was honored July 4 by a citation presented to him by Commander Davis of Arlington Heights Post Veterans of Foreign Wars. Commander Davis. in presenting the citation, said as follows:

"On behalf of Arlington Post No. 981, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, it is my priviledge to award a citation today for an outstanding service rendered during World War II. I would like to mention at this time that Arlington Post is one of the oldest in Cook County, but this is the first time that any individual has been chosen by this post to be so honored.

"Mr. Paddock, I know that I speak the thought of the Service Men from Northwest Cook County as well as thousands of local residents when I say that the service rendered during World War II, for which you are being awarded this citation, is appreciated more than words can possibly express.

"The citation reads:

Veterans of Foreign Wars of U. S. Award of Merit . . . . To all whom these presents shall come . . . . Greetings: Know ye that this award of merit is hereby made as a testimonial to Robert Y. Paddock in recognition of interest taken and cooperation rendered, and a very valuable and meritorious service contributed to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, and for his outstanding contribution to the morale of service men from Northwest Cook County as editor of "WITH UNCLE SAM", an original feature published in Paddock Publications during World War II, constituting an enviable record of aid and inspiration in the service of our country and community. In witness whereof the Cook County Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars has caused these presents to be signed by its Commander in its behalf and its seal affixed and attested at Chicago, Illinois, this Fourth day of July, A. D. 1946.

Arthur B. Glessner,
Commander
C. F. George, Adjutant

"On behalf of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, it is a pleasure to award this citation to you, Robert Y. Paddock, as a lasting testimony of our appreciation to you and Paddock Publications for your outstanding contribution to local service men and their loved ones."

Records fall at Arlington Park

The big holiday week at Arlington Park saw records of all kinds fall like Autumn leaves.

Attendance and mutuel records went by the wayside and while the public was hanging up new records the horses, too, were doing their part.

A new turf record is set about every other day and in the Stars and Stripes handicap on July 4 the long shot Witch Sir equalled the record for the distance set by Blue Larkspur and the mighty Sun Beau many years ago.

The crowds have been passing over a million dollars a day through the mutuels for the past two weeks and with both favorites and long shots coming scampering home all sorts of players are having a big time.

The arrival of Assault, "the horse of the year," at Arlington Park on Saturday was the big news of the week-end.

Assault will be prepared for his engagement in the $100,000 Arlington Classic on July 27, closing day of the meeting.

Another big week of racing is in progress this week with two rich stake events down for decision on Saturday, the famous Arlington Futurity for 2 years olds at six furlongs for a purse of $35,000 and the Dick Wells at one mile for 3 year olds and a purse of $30,000.

With continued good weather of which Arlington Park always gets a generous supply more records are sure to fall as the 1946 meeting, the greatest and most successful in the history of the track reaches the end of the fourth week of its six week meeting.

Donkey baseball starts at 9 tonight

Donkey baseball with its fun provoking rules and gymnastics will entertain sport fans at a benefit for the American Legion baseball fund Thursday night, July 11, at 9 o'clock. The game will be played by the Legion hard and softball teams under lights at Recreation Park in Arlington Heights.

A preliminary game at 7:30 will bring together Wheeling and Du Page teams of the Arlington softball league.

Palatine boys get into trouble

A fine of $100 was assessed by Judge Behrens, Arlington Heights against John Davis of Palatine last week for driving 75 miles an hour in the 4th lane between Wilke road and Euclid while the highway was full of race trackers, July 4th, on their way home. He narrowly missed two state police officers at Wilke road and endangered the lives of two pedestrians near the Town Pump. Davis' excuse was that he was a GI who could not get used to civilian life. The two state cops, also GIs, told-him-off that while Davis was spending his time on shipboard they were in the fox holes on Saipan.

More $100

Two other Palatine boys, Norman Harris and Richard Hildebrandt, are out on $100 bail each after a rough night in the vicinity of Kitty Korners, where they were ordered out of three taverns and were taken in custody by state police as they were trying to regain entrance into the first one visited.

A Palatine friend who came down to bail them out, left in a huff when the boys did not appreciate his good intentions.

East Maine farmer dies in fall when bus hits hay wagon

John Suydam, East Maine, lost his life in a strange accident on Milwaukee avenue Friday. Suydam was riding on a tractor pulling a load of hay near his home when a navy bus ran into the rear of the wagon. He was knocked off, striking his head on a cement culvert as he fell. He died on the way to the hospital.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Haut funeral home in Glenview with burial in Oakwood cemetery, Milwaukee ave.

Arlington Heights boy injured in bus crash

Leonard Garms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Garms, 22 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights, is in St. Francis hospital Evanston with a possible skull fracture. He was a passenger in a car being driven by Leslie Haseman, of Palatine, when the auto and a Cardinal bus collided at the State road and Northwest Highway intersection about 7:00 o'clock Wednesday. night.

A witness gave his opinion that Haseman started to make a left hand turn which caused the bus to swerve to the north. The auto driver suddenly swerved back into his own lane and a sideswip resulted.

FAMILY OF FIVE ARE EVICTED

The family of Philip Theis, South Evergreen, Arlington Heights, were evicted Wednesday by the owner, John, the barber, after prolonged court proceedings. The Theis family were unable to find a place to reside.

Palatine gives big welcome to locker plant

The great demand today for locker service is evidenced by the success that has been attained by the Palatine Locker Service, Chicago avenue, which opened its doors June 21. All of the 480 lockers were rented prior to opening and there is a waiting list of sixty. Mr. and Mrs. Brown, the proprietors, intended to locate at Arlington Heights, where they were discouraged because two other firms were soliciting locker reservations.

In a haydite block building 38 x 167 they have installed the large locker room, a pre-freezing room with a capacity of sixty trays (one day processing), an aging room with a capacity of 15 animals, and a large processing room in which there is also equipment for smoking and curing.

The immediate popularity of the service is the fact that they have been able to provide locker holders with quarters of federal inspected beef, which is purchased by them, slaughtered, U. S. inspected, processed and placed in the individual lockers without the locker owner lifting a finger except to sign the check when the job is done.

Automatic records of temperatures are kept for the state inspector. Automatic ventilation insures pure air at all times. A full time butcher-meat cutter is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown are not making immediate plans for expansion at this time prefering to give adequate service to present locker owners.

For the present, processing of fruits and vegetables must be done in the home, but receptacles for them can be purchased at the plant. A milk and ice cream depot is also maintained.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown reside in Gainer Park.

Lawnmower backfire brings out two fire trucks

Arlington Heights fire department took out two fire trucks early Sunday evening because the meager phone message mentioned "gasoline on fire." The location was 315 Park street, rather near the Ford garage. The firemen thought it was better to be safe than sorry. A gasoline lawnmower had backfired. The firemen extinguished the blaze with dirt.

Save corn crib

Tuesday afternoon they were called to 219 South State road to extinguish a prairie fire that threatened a few trees and an old corn crib. A woman had tried burning waste paper.

Forty-eight mile bike race starts at Mt. Prospect

Leading bike riders in this country will compete in the 9th annual Edison Park Wheelmen 48-mile handicap road race Sunday at 1 o'clock. The starting and ending point will be Main street, Mt. Prospect.

Sponsored by the VFW Post 1337, and aided by the business men and friends of Mt. Prospect and neighboring towns who are furnishing trophies and prizes, this event is expected to attract the largest crowd in its nine year history.

Six day bike riders who will be on hand to help the riders are Peden, Pesek, Schaller, Jacoby, Abt, Audy, and Rodman.

The route the riders will take will run west on the Northwest highway to Palatine, north on Route 53 to Dundee road, east to Rand road, then to Elmhurst road and down to the starting point.

Request bids for postoffice quarters

The U. S. Post Office Department is asking for proposals to lease post office quarters in Arlington Heights. A stated price is asked to furnish approximately 2,000 square feet, the owner to furnish all necessary furniture and equipment. The term of the lease is to be for five or ten years. The lease on the present quarters expires in January.

Junior Legion team needs one more for district champion

Arlington Heights Junior Legion baseball team, the "Ford's", is one game from the championship of Ninth District, American Legion, as they scored a 9-2 victory over the Kilbourne Park nine Tuesday. Eight of the nine runs were put across with home run blows by Bob Wille, and Berchet, with the bases loaded.

Champions of the district will hinge on the final game which will be played either Thursday or Friday of this week. The date and place has not been announced. If any fans wish to travel with the team and cheer them to victory, they are invited to meet at Recreation park at 5 p.m. If the game is not played Thursday, it will be played on Friday.

A complete report of Tuesday's game appears on the sport page in the second section of this issue.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 7, was:
"GOD"
The Golden Text was:
"The earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea" (Hab. 2: 14).
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:
"Then Paul stood in the midst of Mars' hill, and said, Ye men of Athens, I perceive that in all things ye are too superstitious. For as I passed by, and beheld your devotions, I found an altar with this inscription, TO THE UNKNOWN GOD. Whom therefore ye ignorantly worship, him declare I unto you . . . Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised; and his greatness is unsearchable" (Acts 17: 22, 23, Ps. 145: 3).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:
"From a material standpoint, 'Canst thou by searching find out God?' . . . Can matter recognize Mind? Can infinite Mind recognize matter? Can the infinite dwell in the finite or know aught unlike the infinite? Can Deity be known through the material senses? Can the material senses, which receive no direct evidence of Spirit, give correct testimony as to spiritual life, truth, and love? . . . Paganism and agnosticism may define Deity as 'the great unknowable;' but Christian Science brings God much nearer to man, and makes Him better known as the All-in-All, forever near. Question — What is God? Answer — God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love" (pp. 551, 284, 596, 465).

At 2:30 all boys who are beginners, large or small, have been receiving swimming instruction in order to pass the red cross beginners swimming test for which they will receive a beginners swimming certifiicate. It was this group that performed so excellently in our recent Fourth of July swim show.
On August 14 at 10 a. m. there will be a colored film shown at the Field House sponsored by the Bowman Dairy Company. The film will portray recreation and swimming pictures and will be very interesting for both young and old. All parents are urged to encourage their children to see this movie and are invited to attend with their youngsters.
If you are interested in tennis either competitive or recreational will you please show your interest by signing up at the field house. The idea of this tennis program is to get a tennis school and demonstration at the park which will be available to all Arlingtonites and given by the Chicago tennis association.
We must first be assured of an attendance before the professionals will come to our courts.
After the tennis school it will be possible to determine if a tennis tournament would be possible. Please let your intentions or wishes be known as soon as possible.
In order to make our program a success send your youngsters to the park to participate in your activities.
The South park program has not met with much response. During the week of June 24 to 29 a boy counselor has been at the park on Wednesdays and Fridays also a girl counselor on Tuesdays and Thursdays with only three children showing up.
We are going to try again on Tuesday, July 16 for girls and Wednesday, July 17 for the boys. If the response is not effective we will discontinue sending personnel to the south side.
Remember you will not have a chance to win an award if you do not attend the park program.

Many thanks

The award of the Chevrolet car to us was a delightful surprise. It is all the more delightful because of the use we have for it. Our thanks go to the Community Council which made the award possible and to all those who participated in the purchase of tickets. It was an Arlington Heights event and we know that you are glad that the car was awarded to Arlington Heights people.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 7, was:
"GOD"
The Golden Text was:
"The earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea" (Hab. 2: 14).
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:
"Then Paul stood in the midst of Mars' hill, and said, Ye men of Athens, I perceive that in all things ye are too superstitious. For as I passed by, and beheld your devotions, I found an altar with this inscription, TO THE UNKNOWN GOD. Whom therefore ye ignorantly worship, him declare I unto you . . . Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised; and his greatness is unsearchable" (Acts 17: 22, 23, Ps. 145: 3).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:
"From a material standpoint, 'Canst thou by searching find out God?' . . . Can matter recognize Mind? Can infinite Mind recognize matter? Can the infinite dwell in the finite or know aught unlike the infinite? Can Deity be known through the material senses? Can the material senses, which receive no direct evidence of Spirit, give correct testimony as to spiritual life, truth, and love? . . . Paganism and agnosticism may define Deity as 'the great unknowable;' but Christian Science brings God much nearer to man, and makes Him better known as the All-in-All, forever near. Question — What is God? Answer — God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love" (pp. 551, 284, 596, 465).

The swimming program is well under way. Regular life saving class work for certificates will take place every week day, starting at 1:30 sharp with 14 enrolled already. Those interested in getting a certificate sign up as soon as possible. At 2:00 all boys and girls who have passed the beginners swim test, (14 having passed to-date) will work towards an intermediate red cross swimmers certificate.

At 2:30 all boys who are beginners, large or small, have been receiving swimming instruction in order to pass the red cross beginners swimming test for which they will receive a beginners swimming certifiicate. At 3:00 all girl beginners large or small are receiving instruction for beginners swimming certificates. Tests are given for the beginner swimmers every Friday. Enrolled so far are 49 boy beginners, 41 girl beginners and 18 intermediates.

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings the specialists or swimmers who are interested in taking part in synchronized swimming get instruction starting at 10:30. The group now includes Jean Baldwin, Esther Karstens, Caroline Kraybill, Allan Stroker, Bill Robinson, Craig Baldwin and Bud Hoffman.

It was this group that performed so excellently in our recent Fourth of July swim show.

On August 14 at 10 a. m. there will be a colored film shown at the Field House sponsored by the Bowman Dairy Company. The film will portray recreation and swimming pictures and will be very interesting for both young and old. All parents are urged to encourage their children to see this movie and are invited to attend with their youngsters.

If you are interested in tennis either competitive or recreational will you please show your interest by signing up at the field house. The idea of this tennis program is to get a tennis school and demonstration at the park which will be available to all Arlingtonites and given by the Chicago tennis association.

We must first be assured of an attendance before the professionals will come to our courts.

After the tennis school it will be possible to determine if a tennis tournament would be possible. Please let your intentions or wishes be known as soon as possible.

In order to make our program a success send your youngsters to the park to participate in your activities.

The South park program has not met with much response. During the week of June 24 to 29 a boy counselor has been at the park on Wednesdays and Fridays also a girl counselor on Tuesdays and Thursdays with only three children showing up.

We are going to try again on Tuesday, July 16 for girls and Wednesday, July 17 for the boys. If the response is not effective we will discontinue sending personnel to the south side.

Remember you will not have a chance to win an award if you do not attend the park program.

Many thanks

The award of the Chevrolet car to us was a delightful surprise. It is all the more delightful because of the use we have for it. Our thanks go to the Community Council which made the award possible and to all those who participated in the purchase of tickets. It was an Arlington Heights event and we know that you are glad that the car was awarded to Arlington Heights people.

What price health?

by C. W. LUSSMAN of Sieburg Pharmacy

When illness strikes, do you shop around frantically to find a doctor whose charges you think might be low? Of course not.

By the same token, why look for a "bargain counter" when your doctor gives you a prescription? Your health is beyond price—the medication you may need to restore or preserve it should be only the best, regardless of price.

The conscientious druggist's prescriptions are not expensive. They contain the finest of ingredients, checked and double checked, plus the conscientious skill of a trained man. That is your safety and your saving.

The show will have 6 classifications, namely dahlias, one bloom; gladioli, one spike; asters, three blooms of same color and type; zinnias, three blooms same color and type; marigolds, three blooms same type and color; and roses, one bloom per entry of hybrid teas. Each of these classifications have several sections for the various colors.

The miscellaneous annuals or biennials classification has sections for carnations, cosmos, daisies, pinks, gaillardia, annual sunflowers, pansies, petunias small large and double, salvia, scabiosia, verbena, and others. In the perennials and bulbous flowers there are sections for hardy asters, cannas, cushion and single type chrysanthemums, hybrid and other delphiniums, lilies, and all other types of perennials.

In all sections judges will award blue ribbons for first, red ribbons for second and white ribbons for third places.

Information material covering the rules, classifications, etc., will be published shortly and copies may be obtained at the Prospect Heights hardware store.

Home loans most popular of all to vets

Nearly nine times as many home loans have been obtained by Illinois veterans under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (G. I. Bill) as all business and farm loans combined, Robert D. Beer, manager of the Illinois regional VA office, revealed this week. Of 10,086 loans granted to ex-servicemen and women in the regional area up to June 28, 9,028 were for homes, 821 for businesses and 237 for farms.

Prospect Hts. flower show open to amateur gardeners

Prospect Heights' 3rd Annual Flower Show which will take place August 11 during the Community's 10th Anniversary celebration has been opened to all amateur gardeners in the northwest suburban area. A cordial invitation has been extended by George J. Westermann, chairman of the flower show committee, to residents of Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine and Wheeling to enter their favorite flowers in competition with those grown in Prospect Heights.

The show will have 6 classifications, namely dahlias, one bloom; gladioli, one spike; asters, three blooms of same color and type; zinnias, three blooms same color and type; marigolds, three blooms same type and color; and roses, one bloom per entry of hybrid teas. Each of these classifications have several sections for the various colors.

The miscellaneous annuals or biennials classification has sections for carnations, cosmos, daisies, pinks, gaillardia, annual sunflowers, pansies, petunias small large and double, salvia, scabiosia, verbena, and others. In the perennials and bulbous flowers there are sections for hardy asters, cannas, cushion and single type chrysanthemums, hybrid and other delphiniums, lilies, and all other types of perennials.

In all sections judges will award blue ribbons for first, red ribbons for second and white ribbons for third places.

Information material covering the rules, classifications, etc., will be published shortly and copies may be obtained at the Prospect Heights hardware store.

Home loans most popular of all to vets

Nearly nine times as many home loans have been obtained by Illinois veterans under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (G. I. Bill) as all business and farm loans combined, Robert D. Beer, manager of the Illinois regional VA office, revealed this week. Of 10,086 loans granted to ex-servicemen and women in the regional area up to June 28, 9,028 were for homes, 821 for businesses and 237 for farms.

Brewery Yeast

One of the most important assets of a brewery is its yeast which it filters out and uses year after year to impart a particular character to its beer. As such yeast requires decades to develop and cannot be duplicated, a 54-year-old culture owned by a certain American brewery is insured with Lloyd's of London for $1,000,000.

Brewery Yeast

One of the most important assets of a brewery is its yeast which it filters out and uses year after year to impart a particular character to its beer. TO ALL OUR MOST WORTHY GARDENERS & OTHERS
Who Take Delight and Comfort in the Kitchen-Garden

LET the Reader be pleas'd to take notice, that I write not here for those which are skilful Gardeners, but for those that have a mind to become so, that their Gardens may be in a Condition to allure the Spectators, and delight the Eyes of the Curious.

Of the STANDING

FOR the most laudable placing, the Husbandman ought to consider the condition and property of the earth of his Garden, whether of itself the same be very moist, or over dry, acid or sweet, and that it must be fruitful and kindly bring up profitable herbs. The garden must be comfort'd and rejoyc'd by the Sun and somewhat lie aslope to permit proper drainage of water. And this diligently obcy, that better is a little ground of Geild, being well dress'd and labour'd, than a large ground having no painful labour bestow'd on it at all.

Of the SOWING

THE beds must be very carefully prepared for Seed. Note that good dressing maketh a good ground the better, and greatly amendeth an ill ground. It behooveth the Gardener to learn the apt times to sow or plant in. Many hurry this Business up and loss of seeds or plants in the Frost is a common Complaint. The Planting must be attended to in a due Manner, not slighted, as is too customary. Do not sow too shallow or more expos'd and yet not too deep. Do not sow too thickly as Seedlings must be given free Room for Growth or they will come to Nothing.

Of the INSTRUMENTS

A little Neglect may do a great deal of Mischief. The careful Husbandman after each using cleanseth and freeth Tools and Instruments of the Earth wherewith they are wont to be laden. He keeps them well appear'd and safe from harms that happen in the course of being left in the field.

Of FRESHENING of the Beds

IF the sky withholds its Supply, the Labour of the Hand must take its place, for this Season must not be pass'd over. The age of the plants shall greatly direct the Gardener to know how to moisten them. For tender young plants new come up, require a lesser watering. A gentle sprinkling shall greatly prosper them where otherwise by the hastily drowning with water, they are much annoyed, and put in hazard of perishing. But herbs more grown will per se have their wel plentifully moisten'd that their roots may drink. The watering of the beds ought to be done in the morning, soon after the Sun rising and at evening when the Sun possesseth a weaker force above the Earth.

Of the CULTIVATION

WHERE plants grow thick together, the Gardener must learn to set them thinner to the end they might the better increase and wax bigger. And what painful industry is requir'd in the weeding away of all hurtful herbs coming up. According to the Condition of the Crop various Methods are to be us'd: the Hoeing is the best: but there are places where this purging ought rather to be exercis'd with the Hand, for fear of forbiting the young plants before they be grown strung in roots and big shot up. And the Husbandman must take heed that he do not too boisterously loose the earth, nor handle much the plants.

'Bluejacket choir' at Des Plaines camp ground

The famed Bluejacket Recruit Choir from Great Lakes Naval Training Station, under the direction of Chaplain R. D. Barnett, will appear in an afternoon concert at the Methodist Camp Ground, Des Plaines, Sunday afternoon, at three o'clock. This event, looked forward to as an excellent musical occasion, will follow a service and rites of Holy Communion to be conducted by Bishop J. Ralph Magee, head of Chicago Area Methodism.

In the evening of that day, at 8 o'clock, Maine Township high school band of 100 pieces, Emmett R. Sarig, director, will provide a special program. The speaker of the evening will be the venerable Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of Washington, D.C.

Sunday morning of the same day, Bishop Edward Wendell Kelly of St. Louis will conduct the worship service while the music will be furnished by the negro choir of St. Marks church, Chicago, Walter E. Gossette, director. Bishop Kelly will speak also at the youth vesper service held at 6:30 p.m.

Saturday, July 13, will be All Youth Day at the camp ground, celebrated by picnics, swimming, contests and other fun all afternoon; a free weiner roast at 7:00 p.m.; and a Camp Fire service at 9 o'clock at which the Rev. Dr. J. Manning Potts, Associate Director of Methodism's Crusade for Christ, will speak.

July 14 will be the final day of the two-week assembly program which has been well attended and highly successful as the 87th annual observance of the founding of the Des Plaines camp institution. Other worship services with special speakers continue each Sunday morning and evening, and each Wednesday evening with the Rev. Theodore Potter, until September 1.

Redwings win 2, lose 1; Kenosha Sunday

The Parrot Inn (Midwest League) beat the locals 3-1 on June 30. Good pitching by Svital of the visitors kept the home club from scoring more than one run.

On July 4 the Redwing batters had a chance to fatten their average, the home club winning 12-9 from the La Rose Coal Co., Midwest League club. In order to give Schaefer enough rest for Sunday's game, Manager Wahl got Dick Bokelman (Northwestern University star) to take over the pitching assignment. Dick looked very good, poor support accounted for most of the runs scored on him, and looks like the answer to Schaefer's prayer. George has been throwing that fast one over the pan for the Redwings for fifteen years now and he welcomes a chance to watch from the sidelines. Let's hope Dick stays with the club. The fans had a good laugh in the seventh when Schaefer chased Mahn from first to home with a long triple. Who said they couldn't win?

On July 7 the locals won 9-3 from the Chicago Senators (colored). Peeters, Schaefer, and Scheiwe hit the ball all over the park with 3 hits each.

Next Sunday Kenosha plays here. The locals beat them last year 4-3. A close game is expected. The fans will probably have one chance to see Elmer Kirchhoff in action before he reports to St. Paul. Elmer received his navy discharge a few days ago and expects to continue playing professional ball. He was captain of the navy ball club at Camp Shelton, Norfolk, Va., until discharged.

Fifty-four scouts leave for summer camp in Michigan

Fifty-four boy scouts from the Northwest Suburban council left Wednesday for the second period at Camp Wabaningo.

The first two-week period has just been completed and those who attended experienced a real treat in camping and adventure. Camp Wabaningo is situated on the shores of Duck Lake and Lake Michigan, 17 miles north of Muskegon, Mich., and is an ideal camping spot, with its 387 acres of beautiful woods, lakes and hills.

Besides excellent natural facilities, Wabaningo has fine physical facilities which include mess hall, recreation lodge, museum and library, handicraft lodge, boat houses and other utility buildings.

Registration for the third and fourth periods, beginning July 24 and August 7, is still possible by notifying boy scout headquarters.

Fearing communism

"To those people in this country who never fear Communism, I wish to say this. This country need never never fear Communism if all its people are afforded the chance to earn a decent living. Freedom of opportunity was never more clearly summed up than in the 'Four Freedoms' of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"The first is Freedom of Speech and Expression — everywhere in the world.

"The second is Freedom of every person to worship God in his own way — everywhere in the world.

"The third is Freedom from Want—everywhere in the world.

"The fourth is Freedom from fear—everywhere in the world.

"The mere ennunciation of these Four Freedoms has not made them come true in this country nor any other country. They are ideals toward which we must strive. They are ideals toward which people of all nations must strive.

"What can we as individuals do to bring about the attainment of these ideals?

Do not underestimate yourself

"First, do not make the mistake of under-estimating the power of yourself as an individual in our form of government. The power of one individual multiplied by all the people of the country is the sum total of the strength of the country. Remember—it begins with the individual. That is YOU.

"Secondly, become well informed on all matters of public interest. This includes everything from local matters to matters of international significance as the control of atomic energy. Do not be fooled by people who pretend to know it all. They may be attempting to influence you for some purely selfish reason. Do not depend for your information upon our free but equally irresponsible and reactionary press.

Act now

"Third, when you have acquired your information, put it to some use. The ultimate end of knowledge is action. It will avail you nothing to study a problem and come to a conclusion unless you translate your conclusion into action. Do not be afraid to express yourself. In your home and in any semi-public or public place when you hear opinions expressed which differ from yours, speak up and let people know what you think. And your greatest and most important duty in a Democracy is that you never fail to register your opinion by voting at the polls.

"I offer you no panacea or easy cure for our troubles. The road I would lay out for you is neither spectacular nor militant. It is the road of hard work and diligent application. The price of freedom is eternal vigilance. The price of freedom is hard work and sustained effort.

"Last of all—don't wait. Don't postpone. Don't procrastinate. Get busy now. The hour glass of time is slowly running out. The hour of history is much later than many of us think."

Painting Surfaces

No matter how good a paint or other protective coating may be, it cannot generally be expected to adhere to and remain long on dirty, greasy, corroded or damp surfaces. All surfaces which are to be painted or decorated, whether wood, metal or other material should be thoroughly cleaned and made free of dirt, grease, corrosion or moisture before the coating is applied.

'Bluejacket choir' at Des Plaines camp ground

The famed Bluejacket Recruit Choir from Great Lakes Naval Training Station, under the direction of Chaplain R. D. Barnett, will appear in an afternoon concert at the Methodist Camp Ground, Des Plaines, Sunday afternoon, at three o'clock. This event, looked forward to as an excellent musical occasion, will follow a service and rites of Holy Communion to be conducted by Bishop J. Ralph Magee, head of Chicago Area Methodism.

In the evening of that day, at 8 o'clock, Maine Township high school band of 100 pieces, Emmett R. Sarig, director, will provide a special program. The speaker of the evening will be the venerable Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of Washington, D.C.

Sunday morning of the same day, Bishop Edward Wendell Kelly of St. Louis will conduct the worship service while the music will be furnished by the negro choir of St. Marks church, Chicago, Walter E. Gossette, director. Bishop Kelly will speak also at the youth vesper service held at 6:30 p.m.

Saturday, July 13, will be All Youth Day at the camp ground, celebrated by picnics, swimming, contests and other fun all afternoon; a free weiner roast at 7:00 p.m.; and a Camp Fire service at 9 o'clock at which the Rev. Dr. J. Manning Potts, Associate Director of Methodism's Crusade for Christ, will speak.

July 14 will be the final day of the two-week assembly program which has been well attended and highly successful as the 87th annual observance of the founding of the Des Plaines camp institution. Other worship services with special speakers continue each Sunday morning and evening, and each Wednesday evening with the Rev. Theodore Potter, until September 1.

Redwings win 2, lose 1; Kenosha Sunday

The Parrot Inn (Midwest League) beat the locals 3-1 on June 30. Good pitching by Svital of the visitors kept the home club from scoring more than one run.

On July 4 the Redwing batters had a chance to fatten their average, the home club winning 12-9 from the La Rose Coal Co., Midwest League club. In order to give Schaefer enough rest for Sunday's game, Manager Wahl got Dick Bokelman (Northwestern University star) to take over the pitching assignment. Dick looked very good, poor support accounted for most of the runs scored on him, and looks like the answer to Schaefer's prayer. George has been throwing that fast one over the pan for the Redwings for fifteen years now and he welcomes a chance to watch from the sidelines. Let's hope Dick stays with the club. The fans had a good laugh in the seventh when Schaefer chased Mahn from first to home with a long triple. Who said they couldn't win?

On July 7 the locals won 9-3 from the Chicago Senators (colored). Peeters, Schaefer, and Scheiwe hit the ball all over the park with 3 hits each.

Next Sunday Kenosha plays here. The locals beat them last year 4-3. A close game is expected. The fans will probably have one chance to see Elmer Kirchhoff in action before he reports to St. Paul. Elmer received his navy discharge a few days ago and expects to continue playing professional ball. He was captain of the navy ball club at Camp Shelton, Norfolk, Va., until discharged.

Fifty-four scouts leave for summer camp in Michigan

Fifty-four boy scouts from the Northwest Suburban council left Wednesday for the second period at Camp Wabaningo.

The first two-week period has just been completed and those who attended experienced a real treat in camping and adventure. Camp Wabaningo is situated on the shores of Duck Lake and Lake Michigan, 17 miles north of Muskegon, Mich., and is an ideal camping spot, with its 387 acres of beautiful woods, lakes and hills.

Besides excellent natural facilities, Wabaningo has fine physical facilities which include mess hall, recreation lodge, museum and library, handicraft lodge, boat houses and other utility buildings.

Registration for the third and fourth periods, beginning July 24 and August 7, is still possible by notifying boy scout headquarters.

Hello mom! it was a tough race but I won

Members of the Lake Zurich fire department were standing by as starting judges and officials.

Stan Sebby, sponsor of the annual Orange Crate derby at Lake Zurich, had the prize money ready.

The course of the race was laid out from the village hall down hill to the sea wall.

First prize of $10 was won by Richard Price, 9-year old son of a Chicago mail carrier who lives in Lake Zurich. Second prize of $5 went to Richard, and he received the $5 for third place as well as the $5 for having the best car in the race.

Reason: Richard was the only derby driver who showed up for the race.

Fearing communism

"To those people in this counnever fear Communism, I wish to say this. This country need never never fear Communism if all its people are afforded the chance to earn a decent living. Freedom of opportunity was never more clearly summed up than in the 'Four Freedoms' of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"The first is Freedom of Speech and Expression — everywhere in the world.

"The second is Freedom of every person to worship God in his own way — everywhere in the world.

"The third is Freedom from Want—everywhere in the world.

"The fourth is Freedom from fear—everywhere in the world.

"The mere ennunciation of these Four Freedoms has not made them come true in this country nor any other country. They are ideals toward which we must strive. They are ideals toward which people of all nations must strive.

"What can we as individuals do to bring about the attainment of these ideals?

Do not underestimate yourself

"First, do not make the mistake of under-estimating the power of yourself as an individual in our form of government. The power of one individual multiplied by all the people of of the country is the sum total of the strength of the country. Remember—it begins with the individual. That is YOU.

"Secondly, become well informed on all matters of public interest. This includes everything from local matters to matters of international significance as the control of atomic energy. Do not be fooled by people who pretend to know it all. They may be attempting to influence you for some purely selfish reason. Do not depend for your information upon our free but equally irresponsible and reactionary press.

Act now

"Third, when you have acquired your information, put it to some use. The ultimate end of knowledge is action. It will avail you nothing to study a problem and come to a conclusion unless you translate your conclusion into action. Do not be afraid to express yourself. In your home and in any semi-public or public place when you hear opinions expressed which differ from yours, speak up and let people know what you think. And your greatest and most important duty in a Democracy is that you never fail to register your opinion by voting at the polls.

"I offer you no panacea or easy cure for our troubles. The road I would lay out for you is neither spectacular nor militant. It is the road of hard work and diligent application. The price of freedom is eternal vigilance. The price of freedom is hard work and sustained effort.

"Last of all—don't wait. Don't postpone. Don't procrastinate. Get busy now. The hour glass of time is slowly running out. The hour of history is much later than many of us think."

Painting Surfaces

No matter how good a paint or other protective coating may be, it cannot generally be expected to adhere to and remain long on dirty, greasy, corroded or damp surfaces. All surfaces which are to be painted or decorated, whether wood, metal or other material should be thoroughly cleaned and made free of dirt, grease, corrosion or moisture before the coating is applied.

Ordnance always one step ahead of the enemy

The development and testing of the weapons and motors used by the Regular Army is the primary task of the Ordnance Dept. For this reason, this great branch calls for skilled hands, alert minds and plenty of courage and brawn.

In a hundred battles from Casablanca to Berlin, from Guadalcanal to Tokyo, the Ordnance Dept. has kept the Army one step ahead of the enemy. These men developed and operated the famous "Duck" . . . that amphibian marvel, at home, on land and sea. They perfected the proximity fuse and caused death and defeat to hordes of hostile aircraft. They amazed the world with the recoilless 57 and 75 millimeter rifles which carry the artillery into the front lines with the deadly accuracy of a snipers rifle. They are proud of the 120-millimeter anti-aircraft gun which is unequaled in any army.

Such work calls for ingenuity and plenty of training. When you enlist in the Ordnance Dept. you will be given the opportunity to train under expert supervision at any one of the many famous Army Ordnance training schools. You may become highly skilled in such subjects as Diesel engineering and maintenance, electrical and mechanical engineering, welding, sheet metal working, riveting, the handling of explosives and precision machining. Your work will vary from testing the Regular Army's ammunition or the ballistics of a new shell to developing a new type of steel or a faster, more powerful tank chassis.

Jobless payments rise 33 per cent during May month

Reconversion delays arising from wage and price control uncertainties were reflected in unemployment compensation figures for May, State Director of Labor Robert L. Gordon stated this week. "Total benefit payments under the Illinois Unemployment Compensation law reached $7,703,862 in May, almost 33 per cent more than the $5,795,925 paid to unemployed Illinois workers in April," Director Gordon said.

"Qualified workers who received unemployment benefits in May numbered 116,110 compared with 105,340 who were paid unemployment compensation in April," Gordon continued. "In Chicago 57,000 workers were paid $3,605,747, compared with the 52,580 who received $2,887,331 during April. It is too early yet to estimate whether we have reached the peak of unemployment benefit payments, though the general expectation is that, with raw materials becoming more available and major wage controversies settled, production and unemployment should show gradual improvement."

Unemployment benefits are paid on the basis of earned right, not on need, and a claimant for jobless pay must prove his eligibility. He must be unemployed and have wage credits of at least $225 earned at insured work during 1945. He must be registered for work with the United States Employment Service and be able to work full time in regular employment. Also, he must be available to accept an offer of suitable work.

Veterans may apply for dental treatment

With a 50 per cent increase in professional personnel in the dental out-patient service at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Hines within the past six months, Illinois veterans may now obtain an immediate dental examination to help establish a service-connected dental condition.

Veterans may complete their application forms at the Illinois Regional Office of the Veterans Administration at 366 W. Adams Street and will be provided free transportation to the hospital for examination on the same day. Application forms may also be filled out at the hospital. The veteran must have his honorable discharge certificate to be eligible for this service.

Out-patient dental treatment is made available to all veterans whose dental condition has been established by the Veterans Administration as service-connected. This includes veterans who incurred a dental condition as a result of military service or a service-connected disability in which dental treatment would be required as part of the treatment for that disability. Approximately 50 per cent of the formal disability claims filed include application for dental treatment.

There is one exception — dental treatment for vocational trainees under Public Law 16. Veterans drawing pensions are provided dental treatment when it has been determined by the VA that it is necessary to prevent interruption of training. In emergency cases, services of private dentists on a fee basis may be utilized.

Good average

According to a report issued today by the registrar, Edith Leifheit, 242 veterans enrolled at Northern Illinois State Teachers College at DeKalb during the spring quarter ending June 12, made a scholastic average of 2.05 as compared with an average for all non-veterans enrolled in the college of 1.52. This continues the trend observed during the winter quarter when veterans also surpassed non-veteran students in scholastic standings.

Those you can get
with an OIL-PLATED engine

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL
OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE

Breathes there an American who isn't checking on cars? Chief question is, "What's different for '46?" An OIL-PLATED engine brings you this swell difference: it will escape lots of carbon and sludge by escaping lots of wear. That special type of wear-defense—internal OIL-PLATING—will likewise favor your oil and gasoline mileage.

You can have an OIL-PLATED engine in any car—in the newest or oldest—just simply by making sure to use Conoco Nth motor oil; that's all.

The difference in Conoco Nth oil—patented—is its added ingredient that OIL-PLATES. This is done in a magnet-like manner—by making metals attract and hold lubricant. And that's what puts inner engine surfaces under cover of OIL-PLATING. It stands in wear's way; acts to prolong that new car feeling. . . . And it will act to prolong any older car's usefulness. So if that's your particular problem, change now to Conoco Nth oil—at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco tion. Veterans may apply for dental treatment

With a 50 per cent increase in professional personnel in the dental out-patient service at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Hines within the past six months, Illinois veterans may now obtain an immediate dental examination to help establish a service-connected dental condition.

Veterans may complete their application forms at the Illinois Regional Office of the Veterans Administration at 366 W. Adams Street and will be provided free transportation to the hospital for examination on the same day. Application forms may also be filled out at the hospital. The veteran must have his honorable discharge certificate to be eligible for this service.

Out-patient dental treatment is made available to all veterans whose dental condition has been established by the Veterans Administration as service-connected. This includes veterans who incurred a dental condition as a result of military service or a service-connected disability in which dental treatment would be required as part of the treatment for that disability. Approximately 50 per cent of the formal disability claims filed include application for dental treatment.

There is one exception — dental treatment for vocational trainees under Public Law 16. Veterans drawing pensions are provided dental treatment when it has been determined by the VA that it is necessary to prevent interruption of training. In emergency cases, services of private dentists on a fee basis may be utilized.

Good average

According to a report issued today by the registrar, Edith Leifheit, 242 veterans enrolled at Northern Illinois State Teachers College at DeKalb during the spring quarter ending June 12, made a scholastic average of 2.05 as compared with an average for all non-veterans enrolled in the college of 1.52. This continues the trend observed during the winter quarter when veterans also surpassed non-veteran students in scholastic standings.

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL
OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE

Breathes there an American who isn't checking on cars? Chief question is, "What's different for '46?" An OIL-PLATED engine brings you this swell difference: it will escape lots of carbon and sludge by escaping lots of wear. That special type of wear-defense—internal OIL-PLATING—will likewise favor your oil and gasoline mileage.

You can have an OIL-PLATED engine in any car—in the newest or oldest—just simply by making sure to use Conoco Nth motor oil; that's all.

The difference in Conoco Nth oil—patented—is its added ingredient that OIL-PLATES. This is done in a magnet-like manner—by making metals attract and hold lubricant. And that's what puts inner engine surfaces under cover of OIL-PLATING. It stands in wear's way; acts to prolong that new car feeling. . . . And it will act to prolong any older car's usefulness. So if that's your particular problem, change now to Conoco Nth oil—at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco tion. ADVISORY DEPT. OFFERS PUBLIC FUNERAL HELPS

The return of our Gold Star heroes

By ROY L. FAIRBANKS
of Karstens Funeral Home

With the growing tendency of many people to inform themselves in advance about funeral customs and the return of our Gold Star Heroes, I am sure readers of this column will be interested in the advisory department maintained at the Karstens Funeral Home, under the direction of Walter F. Karstens, Roy L. Fairbanks, and William H. Stirlen.

This Department is open to the public at all hours, and they will be glad to answer all questions you may wish to ask about any phase of the subjects. There is of course no cost or obligation for this convenience.

The information in regard to the Repatriation Program published in these columns from time to time is not intended as advertising for the Karstens Funeral Home, but an honest attempt to be of service to the people of our community who have lost their loved ones in service during World War II.

A portion of the questions and answers will be printed from time to time in the hope that early information may thwart racketeers who might plan to wring profits from Gold Star families by selling repatriation information "services" or books.

This information has been compiled by the mortuary profession as a public service in the hope that it may be informative and useful to Gold Star families perplexed by the question of repatriation, it seeks simply to tell some of the most important facts about the Repatriation Program. Its purpose is neither to urge repatriation or to argue against it. Repatriation is too tender a subject to be argued pro or con, except in the hearts of those most concerned — The Gold Star Families. The Repatriation Program is now a law of the land, enacted by the Congress and signed by the President of the United States. The way is thus open to bring back to their home the remains of those Gold Star War Heroes whose places of interment overseas are known. Repatriation is a question to be decided solely and exclusively by the next of kin of each member of the armed forces, a merchant seaman, or a civilian who died while in war duty overseas since September 3, 1939, and whose place of interment is known. If there is doubt in your mind as to whether you should order the repatriation of the remains of a loved one, we urge you to counsel with your minister, priest, or with those closest to you.

The final decision, however, rests entirely with the next of kin. It is your privilege to determine whether the remains of a loved one should be left to rest overseas permanently, or be brought back to this country for final interment or cremation. The mortuary profession has been assured by the War Department, which will carry out the entire program, that repatriation, when ordered by the next of kin, will be effected with the traditional dignity and reverence that characterizes American funeral service. The mortuary profession desires to be of friendly assistance to the country's Gold Star families in their time of trial and sadness. You will find the Karstens Funeral Home a friendly counsellor. Feel free to call upon them for information and advice without obligation.

This column next week will continue with questions and answers on the return of the Gold Star Heroes.

The Repatriation Program is now a law of the land, enacted by the Congress and signed by the President of the United States. The way is thus open to bring back to their home the remains of those Gold Star War Heroes whose places of interment overseas are known. Repatriation is a question to be decided solely and exclusively by the next of kin of each member of the armed forces, a merchant seaman, or a civilian who died while in war duty overseas since September 3, 1939, and whose place of interment is known. If there is doubt in your mind as to whether you should order the repatriation of the remains of a loved one, we urge you to counsel with your minister, priest, or with those closest to you.

The final decision, however, rests entirely with the next of kin. It is your privilege to determine whether the remains of a loved one should be left to rest overseas permanently, or be brought back to this country for final interment or cremation. The mortuary profession has been assured by the War Department, which will carry out the entire program, that repatriation, when ordered by the next of kin, will be effected with the traditional dignity and reverence that characterizes American funeral service. The mortuary profession desires to be of friendly assistance to the country's Gold Star families in their time of trial and sadness. You will find the Karstens Funeral Home a friendly counsellor. Feel free to call upon them for information and advice without obligation.

This column next week will continue with questions and answers on the return of the Gold Star Heroes.

Vet wins auto, festival prize at Des Plaines

The Des Plaines Post of the American Legion brought its six day festival to a successful climax Sunday at Rand Park by presenting their major award, the new 1946 Nash Ambassador Sedan to Robert A. Johnston of Des Plaines.

A hushed tension held sway over the festival audience as Seaman 2nd class, Johnny Svast and Sgt. James Rocco, both out of town servicemen, drew the winner under the eyes of Commander F. R. Wetterman; festival chairman, William Koehler, Jr.; car chairman, Leonard Poyer and Master of Ceremonies C. Richards.

Mr. Johnston, who had retired for the night was awakened by legionnaires and willingly arose and accompained them to the festival grounds for the presentation.

Mr. Johnston resides with his family at 1856 Sycamore street, Des Plaines, and has lived in Des Plaines all his life. Still slightly flustered, Mr. Johnston, presented his ticket stub (a seven-cent ticket was the winner) to the committee and told of his problems in trying to obtain an automobile for his work as a salesman for Diebold, Inc., a safe and vault dealer in Chicago.

Twenty-seven years old, Johnston is married and has two little children. Recently discharged from the Army's Medical Administration Corps he was one of five brothers in the service and plans on joining the Des Plaines Legion post.

Nightly awards created a lot of interest and provided many happy winners. Automobile tire winners were George Tillotson, Dr. Wm. F. Heller, Mrs. Anne Pagel, John W. Clavey and Frank Zaleski all of Des Plaines.

Blanket winners were Dennis Otis, Elmer Wehrman, Al H. Greive, John Liebert all of Des Plaines. Floor lamps were won by R. W. Fisher, Mrs. Rose Rische, Miss Elizabeth Gass, Mae Ladendorf of Des Plaines, Mrs. W. Coon of Chicago, and Kay Koepp of Park Ridge. Garden carts went to Elmer Schuemann and C. O. Giarrusso of Des Plaines.

Radios were won by David Anderson, Norman Corbin and C. Stade of Des Plaines as well as Mrs. Lillian Poole of Berwyn and Elroy Vogel of Arlington Heights. Pressure cookers went to Claude F. Moody and Bob Zimmermann of Des Plaines.

Chairs were won by E. F. Dunteman, Dorothy Poetsche and Julie Skvarek of Des Plaines. Electric clocks went to Mrs. Vernon Anderson, Mary Strobach and J. F. Norwood. An electric iron went to R. Pagel of Des Plaines.

THE VETERAN'S FRIEND

Q. When a disabled veteran gets married is it necessary that he inform the Veterans Administration?

A. If he is a claimant of the VA it is to his advantage to do so. The VA should be kept advised of all changes in the veterans family and marital status. Certified copy of marriage certificate; birth certificates of wife, self and children and death certificates of members of his immediate family and divorce certificate—if any—should be filed with the VA.

x x x

Q. My claim for pension has been returned because it was not properly completed. Where can I get help in filing it out?—J.E.

A. Every disabled veteran, in filing claims for hospitalization, pension and insurance reinstatement, should seek the help of a qualified veterans' organization representative. If you will contact your nearest Disabled American Veterans' service officer he will help you file your claim properly.

x x x

Q. What is a temporary pension rating awarded a disabled veteran?

A. A temporary rating is one assigned for a disability which has not reached the state where the Veterans Administration feels it is reasonably certain that it will continue unimproved throughout the disabled veteran's life.

x x x

Q. Is there a time limit for filing a claim for compensation or pension for disability caused by war service?

A. There is no time limit for filing for compensation or pension provided under existing legislation. However the Disabled American Veterans urges every disabled veteran not to delay in filing a claim if he believes himself entitled to benefits.

Questions on GI bill

Question: I was discharged from the U. S. Army on February 8, 1943 for a disability incurred during my basic training. I went to work in Alaska and have just returned to the States. I learned today that men discharged prior to February 3, 1944 were entitled to mustering out pay. Where do I apply for this?

Answer: The period of eligibility in which to file for mustering out pay expired on February 3, 1946. However, due to extenuating circumstances you may be allowed this mustering out pay. It is suggested that you may apply for this at the post at which you received your discharge. You may also write to the Finance Officer, Personnel Affairs, 5th Army, Room 1661, Civic Opera Building, Chicago. Enclose your honorable discharge together with a letter explaining the situation, giving full details as to why you have not applied earlier. It might also be advisable to have the statement of facts notarized. This, however, is no assurance that you will receive this mustering out pay.

Question: I am considering dropping my National Service Life Insurance. Would you advise against this move? If so, why.

Answer: Yes, you should keep it permanently if you can possibly maintain payment, but in no case give it up until you know whether or not you can later replace it, either through the Veterans Administration or a private company. A good many veterans, because of disabilities incurred are no longer insurable through private companies. Many others, because of their age, will find that other insurance is so costly that they will be able to afford only a small portion of the amount which might be advisable for their own personal situation. For these reasons, veterans should consider all of the circumstances very carefully before deciding to drop their National Service Life Insurance.

Question: I own my own home. Can I make a G. I. Loan for repairs?

Yes, you can. Any repairs to a building must be of such a nature, however, that they will restore the building or its fixtures, to a condition suitable for use as a home, or place of business, depending upon the nature of the building.

Motorists risk life to save time; Pedestrians risk life to get to trains

RAILROADS NOT TO BLAME

Paddock Publications:

As a Justice of the Peace and one who comes in rather close contact with autoists who do not obey the state laws I want to point out to T. C. Hart, author of "Tales of the Street" that there is a state law that prohibits trucks and autos from crossing a railroad track protected by flasher signals in operation.

A Chicago motorist recently had a very narrow escape at the route 53 crossing in Palatine. Since then the state police have made a number of arrests of auto drivers who think they are in too big a hurry to wait for the train to pass that crossing.

I am not defending the Northwestern in the recent fatal accident at Plum Grove avenue, but bear in mind there was only one train in motion and passing that crossing at the time of the accident.

IT IS THE TRUTH

"It is the truth," an Arlington Heights woman was heard to say Tuesday morning as she listened in at the conversation between the writer and a prominent Arlington Heights business man. The business man said, "when I was young the young girls were content with breakfasts of oat meal and milk. Today a coke and a cigarette is all they need. I wonder if the next generation will select the cigarettes and pass up the coke. I can picture future cigarette advertisements reading, "for breakfast, dinner and supper, a cigarette — no need to watch your vitamins."

DEFENDS PALATINE

Dear Sir:

I note by last week's paper that some reader who had lived in Palatine for a year took a crack at the old timers and the way they do things. Why? May we ask don't those people join in with the so-called old timers, become a part of the community, see what it's all about. Tho no longer a resident of the village of Palatine now, I too was once a "new comer." I found the "old timers" all nice people, I got acquainted with them and became one of them and was honored by being elected to public office not as a "new comer," not as an "old timer," but as a citizen of Palatine who was interested in the community and the welfare of all the people in it.

In my estimation the best solution of the problem of some of these so-called new comers is to become a part of the community and take a part in its activities, then we work for the good of all.

Another Reader.

WHY WAIT FOR DEATH

There are 110 children in the 90 homes in Palanois Park, also 180 adults. These people are required to cross a four lane speed highway everytime they go to the depot, the post office, shopping or the movie.

Mayor DePue has tried for several years to get the ok of the state highway department for the installation of stop and go lights at the Chicago Ave-Northwest Highway crossing. He has tried to interest the Chicago Motor Club. Until this year such installation would only aid motorists and there was some reason for the delay or non-interest on the part of the state and the motor club. With the development of Palanois Park and several hundred new citizens it should be a different story.

Why wait until there is a fatal accident before doing something about the traffic lights?

Palatine has a substantial sum to its credit in the state gas tax fund. That fund can be used for the installation and for the maintenance of those lights.

Palatine has spent over a thousand dollars the past few weeks to improve local gravel streets. It was an improvement that was needed.

So are those traffic lights.

Not a Newcomer.

Your weekly treat recipe

Hot biscuits are a pleasant addition to breakfast, lunch or dinner — especially when they're buttermilk biscuits. Here's my latest biscuit recipe which you will find easy to make. It's the kind to keep close at hand when company drops in, because you can make these biscuits in a reasonably short time.

Buttermilk Biscuits

2 cups emergency flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk
2 teaspoons double acting baking powder
4 teaspoons shortening
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons water

Method: Sift the flour, salt and baking powder and work shortening into the mixture until mealy in appearance. Dissolve the soda in the water and add to buttermilk. Add the liquid slowly to the flour mixture until the dough holds together like a ball. Handle as little as possible. Roll and cut into rounds with small biscuit cutter. Brush top with melted butter. Bake at 475 degrees for ten minutes.

It Happened Here

The oath of citizenship required of Athenian youths: "We will never bring disgrace to our city by any act of dishonesty or cowardice, nor ever desert our suffering comrades in the ranks; we will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city, both alone and with many; we will revere and obey the city's laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in those about us; we will strive unceasingly to quicken the public's sense of civic duty; and thus, in all these ways we will strive to transmit this city not only not less but greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us." It is well for a city or a nation to be founded on high ideals; even tho faultily realized; consider the knights of King Arthur's Round Table, their vows to sustain the king, rout evil from the land and succor the weak; they failed but ideals lived. Our own nation, conceived in a high idealism, would be well to consider the Athenian oath of citizenship.

Army resumes burial procedure for oversea deaths

The peacetime procedure of returning to the United States for burial members of the army who died while in military service overseas became effective July 1. This procedure has not been followed since September 3, 1939, the date of the limited National Emergency, Colonel Glenn A. Ross, Commanding Officer of the Chicago Quartermaster Depot, announced this week upon receipt of a War Department bulletin.

In the cases of deaths of army personnel overseas after July 1, the Quartermaster Corps will not inter the bodies in temporary cemeteries but will hold them in mortuary chapels at overseas stations until the next available transportation, either army transport or commercial carrier.

Current deaths are not to be confused with deaths during military operations. Those who died in military operations or subsequent to V-J Day but before July 1, are buried in temporary military cemeteries overseas. Final disposition of their remains will be made according to the wishes expressed by next of kin following a questionnaire which will be sent to next of kin, according to a program which is now being carefully worked out by the Office of the Quartermaster General, Washington, D. C.

BOOMING CROPS

The hot weather following the recent rains have surely boosted the crop prospects of this area.

Small grains which are ripening fast "stretched out" a whole lot following the rains as Otto Bittner predicted they would and a good yield is in prospect.

Even the short grain is heading up well and a good yield seems assured.

And the way the corn has been boosting along this hot weather is something to look at.

Most corn made the knee-high stage by July 4 and since then has been growing great guns.

A fine deep green in color and with a good stocky stand the prospects are for a bumper corn crop.

With more hot weather so far than we had all last summer the boys aren't doing much worrying.

The haying season is in full blast and farmers are reporting a good hay crop.

So all in all the folks on the farms are feeling pretty good these days about the 1946 crop outlook.

GARDENS

And it's been a grand year for the home gardeners.

The gardens are producing great yields of all manner of garden crops and the gardeners like the farmers are all smiling at the results of their efforts.

BUGLESS YEAR

It's been almost a bugless year so far.

Potato bugs were late in arriving and have done but little damage, many gardeners not having even sprayed their patches.

The cucumber beetle also hasn't been as prolific as usual and the cabbage butterfly and the resulting green cabbage worms have also been late in getting in their work.

Some gardeners have reported considerable damage from leaf hoppers but all in all the garden pests have been much less active than usual this year—all of which goes for bigger crops and finer produce.

TIP TO RED WINGS

We've heard some comment around Red Wing baseball fans that the Red Wings should give bigger write-ups to their games with an accompanying box score.

With good baseball and good crowds the fans would like to see more about the teams doings.

We pass this along to the club's publicity department.

ARLINGTON PARK

"The most beautiful race track in America" is what a lot of race fans from all over the country are saying these days about Arlington Park.

And well they may, with a natural setting that is hard to beat the huge racing plant is a spot of beauty with its parklike infield with flower beds, lake, big flock of white ducks, and landscaped turf courses.

And then that paddock where they saddle the horses out in the open under those big shade trees.

That paddock became so popular with the crowd that they had to fence it off to keep the crowds away from the horses.

A big number hangs on each tree and the horse bearing the like number on the program is saddled in the shade under those spreading trees.

Then they are taken into the walking ring where the jockeys are waiting and are walked around until the bugle calls them to the post.

And on a lot of hot afternoons hundreds of fans stay out there under the shade of those big trees, where there is always a breeze and "watch" the races by listening to the description over the loud speakers, and really getting a better idea of the race than if they were in the crowded stands trying to see over the heads of several thousand people in front of them. It is the aim of the Arlington Park and Washington Park management to make Chicago the racing center of America and with this in mind they are making their tracks as comfortable as possible for the patrons and are offering the richest purses in the country to the horsemen, a combination which is fast bringing about the realization of their dreams to make Chicago the racing center of America with the richest purses and the most beautiful and comfortable surroundings for all classes of patrons of the sport.

COOL NORTH

It's hot as we write this and our collar is fast wilting along with everything else about us and we think of Mayor DePue and Alderman Doc Williams heading into the cool north with their golf bags and outboard motor.

Way up in the cool breezes of Canada those boys will finally go to roost for three weeks of fishing and other outdoor sports.

Maybe after a big day, and as they sit before their evening fire with the cool breezes blowing off the Canadian Rockies, they will give a thought to their friends back here who are sweating it out in 96 degree heat, and consoling themselves with "yes, it's hot but boy this weather is good for the corn crop."

AROUND the CORNER

Dear Jane:

We were enchanted with last night's performance of "The Late George Apley", as given by the Shady Lane Players in their barn west of Marengo.

Have you ever been there? Just in case you have not, and would like to add another spot to your list of delightful places to go this summer, let me pass on to you what I learned about Shady Lane Farm and Shady Lane Playhouse.

It seems that back in 1937 the Frank Bryans opened their farmhouse dining room (by reservation) to people who appreciate fine home-cooked food. They make a specialty of fried chicken or baked ham meals. Nearly all the vegetables and fruits are raised on the farm, and all the bread, rolls and pastries are baked in their own kitchen.

The white frame house has obviously been given new wings in latter years, and it sets among ancient trees, surrounded by lovely gardens and well trimmed grounds. Yes, there are antiques. Fine carriage lanterns adorn either side of the main entrance, and I saw a farm bell, like our own, that rang a few minutes before curtain time at the little theatre in the barn.

The playhouse opened in 1941, and ran for two seasons. But the war curtailed their activities, and it wasn't until this summer that they were able to re-open. The barn seats 350, and last night every seat was taken, and many people turned away. Tickets are reserved and sell for $1.50 at the box office, which interestingly enough, was once a chicken coup! You may reserve in advance, or get there early and trust to good luck. We got there about eight o'clock, and received seats in the 15th row, and saw everything clearly and heard every word. Curtain time is eight thirty.

You'd love the atmosphere of the place! Somewhere they were able to purchase seats from an old movie house, and I imagine, the curtains were obtained from the same source. A black crayon drawing of a Simon Ligree person in a threatening posture, and a gracefully posed ballet dancer, cover the first curtain which parts in the center, when lights are dimmed for the performance. The lettering under the drawing reads; "The Curse of the Opera House" — May all your children be acrobats!" Old saddles, reins, bridles, etc., hang on the walls, but because of fire hazard, electricity is used exclusively, in place of the expected oil lamps.

Music on records is played before curtain time, and during intermissions. Such nostalgic remembrances, as the "Missouri Waltz," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart", "Beautiful Ohio" were among those we heard last night.

At the main entrance of the barn-theatre, two old-fashioned lanterns atop red painted porch posts light your way. Ceiling lights and red exit lights give a somewhat modern theatre appearance, but they and the excellent New York and Chicago cast are about the only signs of these "times." Everything else is of the Gay Nineties period.

And that reminds me that the last performance of this season, from August 28 to and including September 1, will be a Gay Nineties Revival — "Love Rides The Rails, or, Will the Mail Train Run Tonight?" which should keep the audience in stitches. The players opened last week with "The Philadelphia Story", and will present "Arsenic and Old Lace" beginning July 10 and run one week, to be followed by "Showboat Week", then "Out of The Frying Pan", "Angel Street", "Laugh That Off", "The Little Foxes", and "Accent On Youth".

It does seem to me that no matter how inaccessible a place appears to be, people will find the means to get there, if there is something worthwhile to be had at the end of the search. For us up here, Shady Lane Farm and Playhouse, is but a twenty minute drive, but even if it were much farther away, I should not want to miss this charming place. It's a good theatre and good food — what more could one ask? You'll find it on Route 20, 3½ miles west of Marengo, Ill.

With love,
Mary.

Palatine celebrates the Fourth; 10 mile race won in 17 min.

Dean's race track, the scene to be of the Cook County Fair Grounds, welcomed 3,000 persons July 4, 1916, when residents of all the neighboring towns were on hand to witness the spirited races and enjoy the new grandstand erected by Mr. Dean.

The hardest fought race of the day was the 2:17 pace which was won by Dr. Malcolm who drove his own horse, winning the third and fourth heats.

Among those present was John Smyth and family of Chicago, owner of the largest house furnishing store in Chicago.

Although it was growing late the crowd stayed for the Ford race, which was cut down to ten miles. Geo. Held of Roehler Garage, Arlington Heights, withdrew and the race was won by H. J. Antoine of Des Plaines who made the ten miles in 17 minutes — a record breaker.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

by Leland Ellis Truxell

So many times in my twenty years as a mail man, I have seen one person saved from misfortune and hardship by another who was a real friend. One of the finest qualities of man is his ability to hold deep and lasting affection and loyalty for another man or woman. But friendship goes beyond the mere physical aid, important though that may be. A friend has a charge that involves the character as well as the physical well being of his friend.

It is one thing, and a mighty fine one, to help out a friend when he is sick, to take care of his home, help with his work, see to his comforts during his illness. It is fine and noble to be ready to sympathize with him in times of deep sorrow at the loss of a loved one — friendship is a godsend then indeed. All of the social affairs which friends enjoy together, their long talks of boyhood days, of the affairs of the day, their vacation plans, the fishing trips they go on together, are good and wholesome evidences of friendship.

But I think that there is a greater responsibility than this owing between one friend and another. It is more important than companionship and sympathy, more important than financial aid or protection.

It is the duty of the real friend to encourage within his friend a large, and a sure concept of decent, clean living. To excite his desire to live right, and guard, with every means within his power, the decency, the self respect, the reputation and honor of his friend. And by every means possible, to arouse within his friend a sense of the reality and comfort which comes from virtuous living.

It is the steadying influence of a good friend that often saves a man from throwing decency and virtue to the winds, and debasing himself by vicious and unlicensed living. Nothing has a more steadying influence on another person's character than knowing that some one he loves would be injured by his actions. Nothing excites his love for virtue more than the sincere advice of a friend in whom he has faith and confidence.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

MARGERY SHARP, who created Cluny Brown, the fascinating English serving girl in the book of that title, has come through with another completely original heroine—Adelaide Culver—in her new novel, "Britannia Mews." "Britannia Mews," like "Cluny Brown," is a Book-of-the-Month Club selection.

MARGERY SHARP

When Adelaide was a little girl in Victorian days, she lived in one of the ten substantial mansions of London's Albion Place. All the residents of Albion Place were people of means and standing—who owned their own carriages and horses and had their own coachmen. The carriages and horses were lodged in the stables behind Albion Place, in a district called Britannia Mews, and the coachmen and their families lived in little three-room flats above the stables.

When Adelaide is approaching young womanhood, Britannia Mews has degenerated to a slum. It is the home of Henry Lambert, an ineffectual and drunken artist who gives drawing lessons. On an off moment, he tells Adelaide, one of his pupils, that he is in love with her. To his surprise, she takes him seriously, and before he knows what has happened, he finds himself married, with Adelaide, having cheerfully cut herself off from her family, busily engaged in cleaning up his flat. This strange marriage lasts during one grim year. Then during an altercation, Adelaide happens to give her spouse a slight push. He falls down the outer staircase, lands on the cobblestones of Britannia Mews, where he dies. His only legacy is a group of intricately carved puppets, which he had made, and which Adelaide heartily detests.

But under the hands of the "second Mr. Lambert," as Henry's successor is known among the denizens of Britannia Mews, these puppets are responsible for the establishment of a Puppet Theatre, which gradually changes the whole character of the neighborhood.

The Puppet Theatre flourished through the 20's, when the Mews was a night club Bohemia, through the days when Adelaide became a theatrical figure and until she died, a very old lady, in the buzz bomb era of World War II.

IT IS THE TRUTH

"It is the truth," an Arlington Heights woman was heard to say Tuesday morning as she listened in at the conversation between the writer and a prominent Arlington Heights business man. The business man said, "when I was young the young girls were content with breakfasts of oat meal and milk. Today a coke and a cigarette is all they need. I wonder if the next generation will select the cigarettes and pass up the coke. I can picture future cigarette advertisements reading, "for breakfast, dinner and supper, a cigarette — no need to watch your vitamins."

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Flentie arrived in Pasadena, Calif., July 4, according to a letter received by his former partner, C. M. Behrens. J. D. says in part:

"I had intended to go to the Grand Canyon and other places, but it was so hot in LasVegas that motorists after a few hours sleep did their traveling during the night. . . .

"If Kossack is still around tell him that when the trout season opened July 1 and fishing from the bridge was allowed, I was there at 5 a.m., but there was no standing room. A flyrod could be rented at 66 cents an hour and a boat at $2.10 an hour, but within 40 minutes the fisherman would catch his limit of ten fish. . . .

"Mr. and Mrs. Wilke are in love with our new home . . . . we are still waiting for arrival of furniture from Des Plaines . . .

"Hope the July 4th celebration was a big success, including the fireworks. We will be looking for Arlington Heights friends.

DEFENDS PALATINE

Dear Sir:

I note by last week's paper that some reader who had lived in Palatine for a year took a crack at the old timers and the way they do things. Why? May we ask don't those people join in with the so-called old timers, become a part of the community, see what it's all about. Tho no longer a resident of the village of Palatine now, I too was once a "new comer." I found the "old timers" all nice people, I got acquainted with them and became one of them and was honored by being elected to public office not as a "new comer," not as an "old timer," but as a citizen of Palatine who was interested in the community and the welfare of all the people in it.

In my estimation the best solution of the problem of some of these so-called new comers is to become a part of the community and take a part in its activities, then we work for the good of all.

Another Reader.

WHY WAIT FOR DEATH

There are 110 children in the 90 homes in Palanois Park, also 180 adults. These people are required to cross a four lane speed highway everytime they go to the depot, the post office, shopping or the movie.

Mayor DePue has tried for several years to get the ok of the state highway department for the installation of stop and go lights at the Chicago Ave-Northwest Highway crossing. He has tried to interest the Chicago Motor Club. Until this year such installation would only aid motorists and there was some reason for the delay or non-interest on the part of the state and the motor club. With the development of Palanois Park and several hundred new citizens it should be a different story.

Why wait until there is a fatal accident before doing something about the traffic lights?

Palatine has a substantial sum to its credit in the state gas tax fund. That fund can be used for the installation and for the maintenance of those lights.

Palatine has spent over a thousand dollars the past few weeks to improve local gravel streets. It was an improvement that was needed.

So are those traffic lights.

Not a Newcomer.

Your weekly treat recipe

Hot biscuits are a pleasant addition to breakfast, lunch or dinner — especially when they're buttermilk biscuits. Here's my latest biscuit recipe which you will find easy to make. It's the kind to keep close at hand when company drops in, because you can make these biscuits in a reasonably short time.

Buttermilk Biscuits

2 cups emergency flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk
2 teaspoons double acting baking powder
4 teaspoons shortening
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons water

Method: Sift the flour, salt and baking powder and work shortening into the mixture until mealy in appearance. Dissolve the soda in the water and add to buttermilk. Add the liquid slowly to the flour mixture until the dough holds together like a ball. Handle as little as possible. Roll and cut into rounds with small biscuit cutter. Brush top with melted butter. Bake at 475 degrees for ten minutes.

It Happened Here

The oath of citizenship required of Athenian youths: "We will never bring disgrace to our city by any act of dishonesty or cowardice, nor ever desert our suffering comrades in the ranks; we will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city, both alone and with many; we will revere and obey the city's laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in those about us; we will strive unceasingly to quicken the public's sense of civic duty; and thus, in all these ways we will strive to transmit this city not only not less but greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us." It is well for a city or a nation to be founded on high ideals; even tho faultily realized; consider the knights of King Arthur's Round Table, their vows to sustain the king, rout evil from the land and succor the weak; they failed but ideals lived. Our own nation, conceived in a high idealism, would be well to consider the Athenian oath of citizenship.

Army resumes burial procedure for oversea deaths

The peacetime procedure of returning to the United States for burial members of the army who died while in military service overseas became effective July 1. This procedure has not been followed since September 3, 1939, the date of the limited National Emergency, Colonel Glenn A. Ross, Commanding Officer of the Chicago Quartermaster Depot, announced this week upon receipt of a War Department bulletin.

In the cases of deaths of army personnel overseas after July 1, the Quartermaster Corps will not inter the bodies in temporary cemeteries but will hold them in mortuary chapels at overseas stations until the next available transportation, either army transport or commercial carrier.

Current deaths are not to be confused with deaths during military operations. Those who died in military operations or subsequent to V-J Day but before July 1, are buried in temporary military cemeteries overseas. Final disposition of their remains will be made according to the wishes expressed by next of kin following a questionnaire which will be sent to next of kin, according to a program which is now being carefully worked out by the Office of the Quartermaster General, Washington, D. C.

BOOMING CROPS

The hot weather following the recent rains have surely boosted the crop prospects of this area.

Small grains which are ripening fast "stretched out" a whole lot following the rains as Otto Bittner predicted they would and a good yield is in prospect.

Even the short grain is heading up well and a good yield seems assured.

And the way the corn has been boosting along this hot weather is something to look at.

Most corn made the knee-high stage by July 4 and since then has been growing great guns.

A fine deep green in color and with a good stocky stand the prospects are for a bumper corn crop.

With more hot weather so far than we had all last summer the boys aren't doing much worrying.

The haying season is in full blast and farmers are reporting a good hay crop.

So all in all the folks on the farms are feeling pretty good these days about the 1946 crop outlook.

GARDENS

And it's been a grand year for the home gardeners.

The gardens are producing great yields of all manner of garden crops and the gardeners like the farmers are all smiling at the results of their efforts.

BUGLESS YEAR

It's been almost a bugless year so far.

Potato bugs were late in arriving and have done but little damage, many gardeners not having even sprayed their patches.

The cucumber beetle also hasn't been as prolific as usual and the cabbage butterfly and the resulting green cabbage worms have also been late in getting in their work.

Some gardeners have reported considerable damage from leaf hoppers but all in all the garden pests have been much less active than usual this year—all of which goes for bigger crops and finer produce.

TIP TO RED WINGS

We've heard some comment around Red Wing baseball fans that the Red Wings should give bigger write-ups to their games with an accompanying box score.

With good baseball and good crowds the fans would like to see more about the teams doings.

We pass this along to the club's publicity department.

ARLINGTON PARK

"The most beautiful race track in America" is what a lot of race fans from all over the country are saying these days about Arlington Park.

And well they may, with a natural setting that is hard to beat the huge racing plant is a spot of beauty with its parklike infield with flower beds, lake, big flock of white ducks, and landscaped turf courses.

And then that paddock where they saddle the horses out in the open under those big shade trees.

That paddock became so popular with the crowd that they had to fence it off to keep the crowds away from the horses.

A big number hangs on each tree and the horse bearing the like number on the program is saddled in the shade under those spreading trees.

Then they are taken into the walking ring where the jockeys are waiting and are walked around until the bugle calls them to the post.

And on a lot of hot afternoons hundreds of fans stay out there under the shade of those big trees, where there is always a breeze and "watch" the races by listening to the description over the loud speakers, and really getting a better idea of the race than if they were in the crowded stands trying to see over the heads of several thousand people in front of them. It is the aim of the Arlington Park and Washington Park management to make Chicago the racing center of America and with this in mind they are making their tracks as comfortable as possible for the patrons and are offering the richest purses in the country to the horsemen, a combination which is fast bringing about the realization of their dreams to make Chicago the racing center of America with the richest purses and the most beautiful and comfortable surroundings for all classes of patrons of the sport.

COOL NORTH

It's hot as we write this and our collar is fast wilting along with everything else about us and we think of Mayor DePue and Alderman Doc Williams heading into the cool north with their golf bags and outboard motor.

Way up in the cool breezes of Canada those boys will finally go to roost for three weeks of fishing and other outdoor sports.

Maybe after a big day, and as they sit before their evening fire with the cool breezes blowing off the Canadian Rockies, they will give a thought to their friends back here who are sweating it out in 95 degree heat, and consoling themselves with "yes, it's hot but boy this weather is good for the corn crop."

AROUND the CORNER

Dear Jane:

We were enchanted with last night's performance of "The Late George Apley", as given by the Shady Lane Players in their barn west of Marengo.

Have you ever been there? Just in case you have not, and would like to add another spot to your list of delightful places to go this summer, let me pass on to you what I learned about Shady Lane Farm and Shady Lane Playhouse.

It seems that back in 1937 the Frank Bryans opened their farmhouse dining room (by reservation) to people who appreciate fine home-cooked food. They make a specialty of fried chicken or baked ham meals. Nearly all the vegetables and fruits are raised on the farm, and all the bread, rolls and pastries are baked in their own kitchen.

The white frame house has obviously been given new wings in latter years, and it sets among ancient trees, surrounded by lovely gardens and well trimmed grounds. Yes, there are antiques. Fine carriage lanterns adorn either side of the main entrance, and I saw a farm bell, like our own, that rang a few minutes before curtain time at the little theatre in the barn.

The playhouse opened in 1941, and ran for two seasons. But the war curtailed their activities, and it wasn't until this summer that they were able to re-open. The barn seats 350, and last night every seat was taken, and many people turned away. Tickets are reserved and sell for $1.50 at the box office, which interestingly enough, was once a chicken coup! You may reserve in advance, or get there early and trust to good luck. We got there about eight o'clock, and received seats in the 15th row, and saw everything clearly and heard every word. Curtain time is eight thirty.

You'd love the atmosphere of the place! Somewhere they were able to purchase seats from an old movie house, and I imagine, the curtains were obtained from the same source. A black crayon drawing of a Simon Ligree person in a threatening posture, and a gracefully posed ballet dancer, cover the first curtain which parts in the center, when lights are dimmed for the performance. The lettering under the drawing reads; "The Curse of the Opera House" — May all your children be acrobats!" Old saddles, reins, bridles, etc., hang on the walls, but because of fire hazard, electricity is used exclusively, in place of the expected oil lamps.

Music on records is played before curtain time, and during intermissions. Such nostalgic remembrances, as the "Missouri Waltz," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart", "Beautiful Ohio" were among those we heard last night.

At the main entrance of the barn-theatre, two old-fashioned lanterns atop red painted porch posts light your way. Ceiling lights and red exit lights give a somewhat modern theatre appearance, but they and the excellent New York and Chicago cast are about the only signs of these "times." Everything else is of the Gay Nineties period.

And that reminds me that the last performance of this season, from August 28 to and including September 1, will be a Gay Nineties Revival — "Love Rides The Rails, or, Will the Mail Train Run Tonight?" which should keep the audience in stitches. The players opened last week with "The Philadelphia Story", and will present "Arsenic and Old Lace" beginning July 10 and run one week, to be followed by "Showboat Week", then "Out of The Frying Pan", "Angel Street", "Laugh That Off", "The Little Foxes", and "Accent On Youth".

It does seem to me that no matter how inaccessible a place appears to be, people will find the means to get there, if there is something worthwhile to be had at the end of the search. For us up here, Shady Lane Farm and Playhouse, is but a twenty minute drive, but even if it were much farther away, I should not want to miss this charming place. It's a good theatre and good food — what more could one ask? You'll find it on Route 20, 3½ miles west of Marengo, Ill.

With love,
Mary.

Palatine celebrates the Fourth; 10 mile race won in 17 min.

Dean's race track, the scene to be of the Cook County Fair Grounds, welcomed 3,000 persons July 4, 1916, when residents of all the neighboring towns were on hand to witness the spirited races and enjoy the new grandstand erected by Mr. Dean.

The hardest fought race of the day was the 2:17 pace which was won by Dr. Malcolm who drove his own horse, winning the third and fourth heats.

Among those present was John Smyth and family of Chicago, owner of the largest house furnishing store in Chicago.

Although it was growing late the crowd stayed for the Ford race, which was cut down to ten miles. Geo. Held of Roehler Garage, Arlington Heights, withdrew and the race was won by H. J. Antoine of Des Plaines who made the ten miles in 17 minutes — a record breaker.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

by Leland Ellis Truxell

So many times in my twenty years as a mail man, I have seen one person saved from misfortune and hardship by another who was a real friend. One of the finest qualities of man is his ability to hold deep and lasting affection and loyalty for another man or woman. But friendship goes beyond the mere physical aid, important though that may be. A friend has a charge that involves the character as well as the physical well being of his friend.

It is one thing, and a mighty fine one, to help out a friend when he is sick, to take care of his home, help with his work, see to his comforts during his illness. It is fine and noble to be ready to sympathize with him in times of deep sorrow at the loss of a loved one — friendship is a godsend then indeed. All of the social affairs which friends enjoy together, their long talks of boyhood days, of the affairs of the day, their vacation plans, the fishing trips they go on together, are good and wholesome evidences of friendship.

But I think that there is a greater responsibility than this owing between one friend and another. It is more important than companionship and sympathy, more important than financial aid or protection.

It is the duty of the real friend to encourage within his friend a large, and a sure concept of decent, clean living. To excite his desire to live right, and guard, with every means within his power, the decency, the self respect, the reputation and honor of his friend. And by every means possible, to arouse within his friend a sense of the reality and comfort which comes from virtuous living.

It is the steadying influence of a good friend that often saves a man from throwing decency and virtue to the winds, and debasing himself by vicious and unlicensed living. Nothing has a more steadying influence on another person's character than knowing that some one he loves would be injured by his actions. Nothing excites his love for virtue more than the sincere advice of a friend in whom he has faith and confidence.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

MARGERY SHARP, who created Cluny Brown, the fascinating English serving girl in the book of that title, has come through with another completely original heroine—Adelaide Culver—in her new novel, "Britannia Mews." "Britannia Mews," like "Cluny Brown," is a Book-of-the-Month Club selection.

MARGERY SHARP

When Adelaide was a little girl in Victorian days, she lived in one of the ten substantial mansions of London's Albion Place. All the residents of Albion Place were people of means and standing—who owned their own carriages and horses and had their own coachmen. The carriages and horses were lodged in the stables behind Albion Place, in a district called Britannia Mews, and the coachmen and their families lived in little three-room flats above the stables.

When Adelaide is approaching young womanhood, Britannia Mews has degenerated to a slum. It is the home of Henry Lambert, an ineffectual and drunken artist who gives drawing lessons. On an off moment, he tells Adelaide, one of his pupils, that he is in love with her. To his surprise, she takes him seriously, and before he knows what has happened, he finds himself married, with Adelaide, having cheerfully cut herself off from her family, busily engaged in cleaning up his flat. This strange marriage lasts during one grim year. Then during an altercation, Adelaide happens to give her spouse a slight push. He falls down the outer staircase, lands on the cobblestones of Britannia Mews, where he dies. His only legacy is a group of intricately carved puppets, which he had made, and which Adelaide heartily detests.

But under the hands of the "second Mr. Lambert," as Henry's successor is known among the denizens of Britannia Mews, these puppets are responsible for the establishment of a Puppet Theatre, which gradually changes the whole character of the neighborhood.

The Puppet Theatre flourished through the 20's, when the Mews was a night club Bohemia, through the days when Adelaide became a theatrical figure and until she died, a very old lady, in the buzz bomb era of World War II.

LAW on the FARM

Ordinarily we think of livestock brands only in connection with the range country. Likewise, the possibility of the Illinois legislature's taking farm names in its stride has probably not occurred to many persons.

In view of the rather large amount of motorized cattle rustling which has occurred in certain parts of Illinois, and in view of the fact that many farmers find it advantageous to mark animals, especially sheep and hogs, for their own purposes, a consideration of the law on this subject is appropriate.

In 1872 the Illinois legislature passed "an act in regard to marks and brands." By the terms of this act every person in the state who owns cattle, horses, hogs, sheep or goats may have an ear mark and brand different from the ear mark and brand of his neighbors. This brand may be recorded by the county clerk of the county where the livestock are kept. The fee is 15 cents. The county clerk is required to keep a book of brands to which citizens of the county are entitled to refer. Provision is made for rebranding when livestock are sold, and it is further stated that the recording of brands is not proof of ownership of animals so branded, but is only evidence of ownership. This act has never been amended, and there is no record of any court decisions affecting it.

Recorded brands are helpful in establishing ownership when animals have strayed or been stolen. Whether or not they are of sufficient value to Illinois stockmen to warrant their use depends on conditions prevailing in particular communities.

In 1915 the legislature passed an act providing for the registration of farm names. For a fee of $1.00 the owner of a farm may have the name recorded by the county recorder, in a book of registry kept for the purpose. The record must contain a description of the land. The name can apply to only one farm in the county. When the farm is transferred, the name does not accompany it unless the deed so states. For a fee of 25 cents an owner may cancel the farm name.

The Illinois law on livestock brands may be found in Chapter 88 of the Illinois Revised Statutes. Chapter 5, sections 57-60, contains the law relative to farm names.

Septic tanks need cleaning, inspection now

A warning regarding the necessity for periodic cleaning of septic tanks was issued by Dr. E. A. Piszczek, Director, Cook County Department of Public Health. Many owners of homes in rural areas dependent upon septic tanks and sub-surface seepage systems for disposal of sewage are unaware of the fact that septic tanks need to be cleaned.

The septic tank should be inspected every summer and when the top scum and bottom sludge add up to twenty inches, the tank should be cleaned. The material from the tank should be placed on a field and plowed under or buried directly. Under no circumstances should it be dumped in a ditch or stream.

The Sanitary Engineers of the Cook County Department of Public Health can furnish information in connection with sewage disposal problems.

LAW on the FARM

Ordinarily we think of livestock brands only in connection with the range country. Likewise, the possibility of the Illinois legislature's taking farm names in its stride has probably not occurred to many persons.

In view of the rather large amount of motorized cattle rustling which has occurred in certain parts of Illinois, and in view of the fact that many farmers find it advantageous to mark animals, especially sheep and hogs, for their own purposes, a consideration of the law on this subject is appropriate.

In 1872 the Illinois legislature passed "an act in regard to marks and brands." By the terms of this act every person in the state who owns cattle, horses, hogs, sheep or goats may have an ear mark and brand different from the ear mark and brand of his neighbors. This brand may be recorded by the county clerk of the county where the livestock are kept. The fee is 15 cents. The county clerk is required to keep a book of brands to which citizens of the county are entitled to refer. Provision is made for rebranding when livestock are sold, and it is further stated that the recording of brands is not proof of ownership of animals so branded, but is only evidence of ownership. This act has never been amended, and there is no record of any court decisions affecting it.

Recorded brands are helpful in establishing ownership when animals have strayed or been stolen. Whether or not they are of sufficient value to Illinois stockmen to warrant their use depends on conditions prevailing in particular communities.

In 1915 the legislature passed an act providing for the registration of farm names. For a fee of $1.00 the owner of a farm may have the name recorded by the county recorder, in a book of registry kept for the purpose. The record must contain a description of the land. The name can apply to only one farm in the county. When the farm is transferred, the name does not accompany it unless the deed so states. For a fee of 25 cents an owner may cancel the farm name.

The Illinois law on livestock brands may be found in Chapter 88 of the Illinois Revised Statutes. Chapter 5, sections 57-60, contains the law relative to farm names.

Septic tanks need cleaning, inspection now

A warning regarding the necessity for periodic cleaning of septic tanks was issued by Dr. E. A. Piszczek, Director, Cook County Department of Public Health. Many owners of homes in rural areas dependent upon septic tanks and sub-surface seepage systems for disposal of sewage are unaware of the fact that septic tanks need to be cleaned.

The septic tank should be inspected every summer and when the top scum and bottom sludge add up to twenty inches, the tank should be cleaned. The material from the tank should be placed on a field and plowed under or buried directly. Under no circumstances should it be dumped in a ditch or stream.

The Sanitary Engineers of the Cook County Department of Public Health can furnish information in connection with sewage disposal problems.

Weed killers also kill other plants

Have you tried any of the weed-killing chemicals on your lawn? The 2, 4-D weed killers — which come under many trade names — are fine for weeds, according to F. F. Weinard, University of Illinois College of Agriculture, but they will also kill shrubs, flowers, and garden crops.

Complaints are coming in to the University telling about roses, tomatoes or other crops which were accidentally ruined. So Weinard urges that you be careful to avoid any drift of material onto flowers and shrubs when you spray your lawn.

After a sprayer or sprinkling can has been used for applying 2, 4-D it should be thoroughly cleaned with hot water and cleaning powder before it is used for any other purpose. In fact, Weinard says, it's so difficult to remove all the residue that it's safer to reserve a sprayer for 2, 4-D. Damage has been caused by applying disease — or insect-control sprays to flowers and vegetables with the same equipment used for killing weeds.

Wants discharge in time to aid in hybrid corn contest

Recent inquiry regarding the corn crop in this locality brought out the information that the crop is somewhat ahead of normal. The stand is generally good and it looks as if the production will be up to or exceed last year.

The 1945 first prize on the DeKalb Hybrid corn contest conducted by J. Fred Meyer of Arlington Heights, their local agent, was won at that time by Homer L. Long of Glenview, with a production of 127.69 bushels per acre.

Recently his son, Glenn, wrote home from the army to his younger brother, Bob, requesting that they do a good job of crop tending so that they would be in the contest for first honors again this year.

Last year they won with DeKalb No. 410, and are planting the same number again this year. Glenn is hoping to be discharged as soon as possible so he can get back home and start in where he left off.

Calling the veterinarain too late

Too many dairymen call their veterinarian only when they have a cow with one foot in the grave. That, says J. A. Henderson, University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine, is not the best way to get the most for your dollar out of veterinary service. The cooperation of your veterinarian will help you plan a herd health program. Then if a cow becomes sick — and some will under any program yet devised — call for assistance before the case is hopeless.

Your veterinary bill may be slightly larger at the end of the year, but over a period of years that increased expenditure will pay high dividends.

Petty tells how to control flies in dairy barn

H. B. Petty suggests using DDT for fly control around the barn this summer. He's an entomologist with the University of Illinois College of Agriculture and the State Natural History Survey. Water-wettable DDT powder may be used as a concentrated spray that will last all summer on the inside walls and ceilings of the barn if they aren't covered with dust, chaff and cobwebs. But since the DDT left on walls won't be effective if it's covered up, Petty says it might be better to make several applications three or four weeks apart, starting when flies first appear.

When several treatments are going to be used, the right concentration is 8 pounds of actual DDT for each 100 gallons of water. That would be 16 pounds of water-wettable DDT powder of 50 percent strength or 32 pounds of 25 percent strength. One gallon will cover about 500 square feet.

Fight potato diseases, pests at same time

When insects and diseases are both likely to damage potato crops, time and labor can be saved by applying insecticides and fungicides in one operation, according to H. B. Petty and M. B. Linn, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Ready-to-use dusts containing 2 or 3 percent DDT and a fixed copper fungicide are available through dealers, they report. Or, if preferred, one pound of water-wettable DDT powder can be mixed with 100 gallons of Bordeaux or fixed-copper spray to give a liquid.

The specialists caution, however, that the DDT should not be added until the fungicide has been mixed with the water, and then should be stirred in a little at a time. Before the mixture is used in the field, it should be agitated, as the DDT is likely to settle to the bottom.

Chicken Range

Better results are obtained when hens are given a restricted range which is rotated, cultivated or disked, and planted to green feed at regular intervals.

Rural youth lawn party at Bergman farm

The next North Cook County Rural Youth meeting will be in the form of a lawn party at the Bergman farm, southwest of Arlington Heights, July 19, at 8:30 p.m. The farm is located at the intersection of Algonquin and Ela roads one mile West of Roselle road.

Business for the evening will consist of electing three members for the executive committee, discussing and voting on the proposed constitution and installation of officers. Committees will also be appointed to arrange for the Cedar Lake picnic in August.

Entertainment for the evening will be high-lighted by a scavenger hunt followed by a wiener roast.

Anyone 17 or older and not married is cordially invited to attend this and the meetings that follow.

Weed killers also kill other plants

Have you tried any of the weed-killing chemicals on your lawn? The 2, 4-D weed killers — which come under many trade names — are fine for weeds, according to F. F. Weinard, University of Illinois College of Agriculture, but they will also kill shrubs, flowers, and garden crops.

Complaints are coming in to the University telling about roses, tomatoes or other crops which were accidentally ruined. So Weinard urges that you be careful to avoid any drift of material onto flowers and shrubs when you spray your lawn.

After a sprayer or sprinkling can has been used for applying 2, 4-D it should be thoroughly cleaned with hot water and cleaning powder before it is used for any other purpose. In fact, Weinard says, it's so difficult to remove all the residue that it's safer to reserve a sprayer for 2, 4-D. Damage has been caused by applying disease — or insect-control sprays to flowers and vegetables with the same equipment used for killing weeds.

Wants discharge in time to aid in hybrid corn contest

Recent inquiry regarding the corn crop in this locality brought out the information that the crop is somewhat ahead of normal. The stand is generally good and it looks as if the production will be up to or exceed last year.

The 1945 first prize on the DeKalb Hybrid corn contest conducted by J. Fred Meyer of Arlington Heights, their local agent, was won at that time by Homer L. Long of Glenview, with a production of 127.69 bushels per acre.

Recently his son, Glenn, wrote home from the army to his younger brother, Bob, requesting that they do a good job of crop tending so that they would be in the contest for first honors again this year.

Last year they won with DeKalb No. 410, and are planting the same number again this year. Glenn is hoping to be discharged as soon as possible so he can get back home and start in where he left off.

Calling the veterinarain too late

Too many dairymen call their veterinarian only when they have a cow with one foot in the grave. That, says J. A. Henderson, University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine, is not the best way to get the most for your dollar out of veterinary service. The cooperation of your veterinarian will help you plan a herd health program. Then if a cow becomes sick — and some will under any program yet devised — call for assistance before the case is hopeless.

Your veterinary bill may be slightly larger at the end of the year, but over a period of years that increased expenditure will pay high dividends.

Petty tells how to control flies in dairy barn

H. B. Petty suggests using DDT for fly control around the barn this summer. He's an entomologist with the University of Illinois College of Agriculture and the State Natural History Survey. Water-wettable DDT powder may be used as a concentrated spray that will last all summer on the inside walls and ceilings of the barn if they aren't covered with dust, chaff and cobwebs. But since the DDT left on walls won't be effective if it's covered up, Petty says it might be better to make several applications three or four weeks apart, starting when flies first appear.

When several treatments are going to be used, the right concentration is 8 pounds of actual DDT for each 100 gallons of water. That would be 16 pounds of water-wettable DDT powder of 50 percent strength or 32 pounds of 25 percent strength. One gallon will cover about 500 square feet.

Fight potato diseases, pests at same time

When insects and diseases are both likely to damage potato crops, time and labor can be saved by applying insecticides and fungicides in one operation, according to H. B. Petty and M. B. Linn, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Ready-to-use dusts containing 2 or 3 percent DDT and a fixed copper fungicide are available through dealers, they report. Or, if preferred, one pound of water-wettable DDT powder can be mixed with 100 gallons of Bordeaux or fixed-copper spray to give a liquid.

The specialists caution, however, that the DDT should not be added until the fungicide has been mixed with the water, and then should be stirred in a little at a time. Before the mixture is used in the field, it should be agitated, as the DDT is likely to settle to the bottom.

Chicken Range

Better results are obtained when hens are given a restricted range which is rotated, cultivated or disked, and planted to green feed at regular intervals.

Rural youth lawn party at Bergman farm

The next North Cook County Rural Youth meeting will be in the form of a lawn party at the Bergman farm, southwest of Arlington Heights, July 19, at 8:30 p.m. The farm is located at the intersection of Algonquin and Ela roads one mile West of Roselle road.

Business for the evening will consist of electing three members for the executive committee, discussing and voting on the proposed constitution and installation of officers. Committees will also be appointed to arrange for the Cedar Lake picnic in August.

Entertainment for the evening will be high-lighted by a scavenger hunt followed by a wiener roast.

Anyone 17 or older and not married is cordially invited to attend this and the meetings that follow.

70 golfers in qualifying All-American golf tourney

More than 70 professional golfers from Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan took part in the qualifying round Monday, preceding the $50,000 1946 All-American Golf Tournaments being held at Tam O'Shanter Country Club, July 22 through July 28.

The eighteen hole medal play qualifying round began on the sporty course at Caldwell and Howard streets, Chicago, at 7 a.m. on Monday as in previous years. Interest in the qualifying round was heightened by the possibility that one of these entrants in "the world's richest golf tournament" might be the dark horse that will topple the big name par-busters from their thrones.

The All-American Professional Tournament is one bracket of the week-long golf festival, which also includes the All-American Amateur Tournament and the All-American Women's Open Tournament.

Sponsored by the George S. May Company, Chicago, business engineers, the tournaments will attract hundreds of top-flight U. S. golfers to compete for the highest golfing purse ever offered, now set at $50,875.

More than 105,000 persons saw the All-American Golf Tournaments at Tam O'Shanter Country Club in 1945, when Byron Nelson, with a 269 score, topped runners-up Ben Hogan and Gene Sarazen to cop $13,600 in prize money.

At near peak perfection last year, a $250,000 course and club house improvement plan developed by George S. May, president of Tam O'Shanter, will be completed in time for the tournaments, it was announced.

Tuesday evening the Poole "Fords" Junior Legion entry traveled to Edison Park to play host on a neutral diamond to a highly touted Kilbourne Park nine. They returned with a neat 9-2 victory behind the two hit pitching of Bob Thollander. Bob's fine pitching and Marvin Berschet's timely hitting were the leading factors in the contest.

In the second inning Bob Wille unloaded a tremendous drive for a home run with the bases loaded.

This blow put the Fords out in front and actually was enough to win the ball game. But Berschet was not to be denied. With the bases full he also hit for the circuit and that was the ball game.

The "Fords" need only one more victory to bring home the 9th district championship and the "Fords" manager is calling on young Chuck Bracke, his other ace hurler. The game is scheduled for either Thursday or Friday of this week. If any of you fans wish to travel with the team, meet at the park at 5:00. If there is no game Thursday it will be played Friday.

Arlington golfers reach half way mark

With the season just half completed the Dunteman Dairy team strengthened their hold on first place by taking seven match points from the Mar Johnson team last Friday night.

C. Vanderford, C. Kleinofen, and Elmer Kraegel all tied for the evening low gross score of 38. Gene Jackson had the low net score of 32.

Many of the golfers are just hitting their stride, and we expect some tough competition for the team that lands in first place. Standings to date are:

Skin Area of Animals

Compared with their weight, small animals possess more skin area than large animals, a good example being the mouse which has, relatively, about 100 times as much skin area as an elephant. Oddly, this weight-surface factor determines the speed with which an animal falls, for instance, down a deep mine shaft. While a pony would be badly crushed and a cat would be killed but not mutilated, a mouse would not be hurt because its rate of fall, after the first 100 feet or so, would be retarded and kept steady by the greater air resistance.

Skin Area of Animals

Compared with their weight, small animals possess more skin area than large animals, a good example being the mouse which has, relatively, about 100 times as much skin area as an elephant. Oddly, this weight-surface factor determines the speed with which an animal falls, for instance, down a deep mine shaft. While a pony would be badly crushed and a cat would be killed but not mutilated, a mouse would not be hurt because its rate of fall, after the first 100 feet or so, would be retarded and kept steady by the greater air resistance.
